Pentagon To Bare Opinions Of MacArthur

General's Views On Russians To Be Given To Public

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—The Defense Department announced Friday it will make public information it has bearing on Gen. Douglas MacArthur's views in February, 1945, on Russian entry into the Japanese war.

MacArthur, Southwest Pacific commander in 1945, has said he would have opposed Russian entry at the time of the controversial World War II Yalta conference if his views had been sought. Other sources have contended he was in favor of Soviet participation.

The department set no specific date for release of the information. But it said the material will be made public as soon as military security officers can complete a survey of relevant files and documents.

The decision is not likely to settle the MacArthur controversy completely, however. The department said it may not make a full disclosure of all official documents as MacArthur has insisted should be done. It said the information may be in the form of a "narrative" summary.

Military officials said security officers are surveying all relevant documents, including a number of secret messages bearing on MacArthur's pre-Yalta messages to the joint chiefs of staff.

MacArthur's views on the Yalta conference have become the subject of a mounting controversy.

After the Yalta papers were released by the State Department last month, he said he would have opposed bringing Russia into the war "at that late date" if he had been consulted by the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The late Defense Secretary James Forrestal wrote in his diary, however, that on Feb. 23, 1945—two weeks after Yalta—MacArthur had told him he favored Russian entry into the Japanese war. Louis Morton, a top Army historian, wrote recently that MacArthur was "thoroughly in favor" of Russian participation at the time of Yalta. MacArthur and his aides challenged the authenticity of such reports. When the Army was asked for clarification, it promptly claimed.

Fine Texas Judge $200 For Parking Meter Violation

ATHENS, Tex., April 8 (UP)—County Judge Barney Bristow, who was fined $200 last week for a simple parking meter violation, said in a radio speech Friday that "if a petition is presented to me, I will call an election."

Bristow didn't elaborate, but there has been sentiment in Athens to get the present city officials out of office by abolishing the city government, just as the school board at Irving was thrown out by abolishing the school district.

Attorneys said that the county judge must call an election on abolishing the city government if a petition is presented by 100 qualified voters and property owners.

The whole controversy started when parking meters were installed in Athens about Jan. 1. Bristow said the present city commission was elected on a platform calling for no parking meters.

Besides that, he said, a 15-foot strip of the street around the courthouse is county property and the city can't regulate parking there. (Attorneys agree the county owns the property but say it is a complicated legal question whether the city can regulate parking in the strip.)

In any event, Bristow parked his car in the disputed strip in front of a parking meter but did not put in a nickel. He got a ticket and the case came up in city court before a jury.

Bristow refused to put on any witnesses or submit any evidence. He contended the jury was stacked against him with men who had already announced they would convict him. He repeated those charges in today's radio speech.

The jury fined him $200 and Bristow appealed to county court—his own court. The appeal hasn't come up yet because of a crowded docket and court attaches said the governor will have to appoint a special judge to hear the case since it involves the regular judge.

Alabama Seizes Memphis Dealer's Grain Elevator

MOBILE, Ala., April 8 (AP)—Charges of multimillion dollar deals in non-existent soybeans resulted today in Alabama taking over a grain elevator operated by a Memphis, Tenn., commodity speculator.

State Agriculture Commissioner A. W. Todd assumed control of Alabama Grain Elevator Co., Inc., Mobile, on grounds it was being operated in violation of a state law prohibiting "false and fraudulent issuance of warehouse receipts."

Todd's order, revoking the company's state public warehouse permit, also charged the big grain elevator was being operated "in jeopardy of the public interest."

Todd petitioned Circuit Court here for authority to liquidate the company's assets. Presiding Judge Claude A. Grayson called a hearing for April 21.

Landon V. Butler, Memphis speculator, is president of Alabama Grain Elevator.

He is being sued at Memphis for $4,470,708.05 by two major commodity dealers who charge he sold them negotiable warehouse receipts for 1,799,839 bushels of soybeans which did not exist.

The federal government previously charged Butler with illegally attempting to manipulate the soybean futures market.

E. S. Morgan, Mobile, Alabama Grain vice president and general manager, and J. J. Wilson Sr., warehouse agent, resigned today on Todd's demand.

The agriculture commissioner named Melvin L. Hibbets, Mobile, as acting general manager. Hibbets has been the state agriculture department's chief grain inspector for the past 2½ years and formerly was with the New Orleans Board of Trade.

Testimony given at an administrative hearing before Todd here March 31 showed that Wilson signed 27 negotiable warehouse receipts for the 1,799,839 bushels of soybeans.

Rubber Workers Returning To Jobs

NEW YORK, April 8 (UP)—Workers began returning to their jobs in plants of the United States Rubber Co. today after the signing of a new two-year contract between the company and the CIO United Rubber Workers Union.

The pact ended a one-week strike involving 33,000 employees at 19 plants across the nation.

The workers walked out April 1 in a dispute over working conditions, vacations and holidays. Wages were not an issue.

A union spokesman said the new agreement provides 28 improvements for workers, including liberalized vacations, an additional paid holiday, and no loss of pay when called to jury duty.

Folsom Asked To Call Guard In Bell Strike

Request Sent To Alabama Governor From Birmingham

ATLANTA, April 8 (AP)—The governor of Alabama was asked today to send National Guardsmen to the Birmingham area to maintain order in a strike of Southern Bell Telephone Co. workers.

At the same time the federal government called on both the company and the CIO Communication Workers of America to settle a 26-day-old strike that has brought violence in most of the nine Southern states affected.

Sheriff Holt McDowell of Birmingham and Mayor Jap Bryant of nearby Bessemer made requests to Gov. James E. Folsom for troops. The governor directed Bill Lyster, head of the Public Safety Department to make a survey of the area. He said he would decide whether to send guardsmen into the section after receiving Lyster's report.

Gunfire and egg throwing in Birmingham last night prompted the sheriff to appeal to the governor for help. A bullet was fired through a window of the Birmingham telephone exchange while a jeering crowd of some 500 persons gathered in front of the building. Some of the crowd tossed eggs at police.

Threats to blockade the approaches to a Southern Bell warehouse at Bessemer sent half a hundred police and sheriff's deputies to guard the structure last night.

Widespread cable cutting by ax, dynamite and gunfire have kept repair crews busy. Twenty-five striking workers have been fired for alleged acts of violence or threatening of those still at work.

Joseph F. Finnegan, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service in Washington, today wired company and union negotiators in Atlanta to redouble efforts toward ending the strike.

Conciliators have been meeting separately with company and union representatives.

Third Person?

Brother, Sister Both Deny Killing Minister's Widow

HOUSTON, April 8 (UP)—A Texas Ranger said Friday that authorities are going to have to talk some more to a brother and sister who each accused the other of beating a Baptist preacher's widow to death.

The brother is Jimmie Lee Baker, 23, a carpenter's helper who confessed Thursday that he and his sister murdered the preacher's widow, Mrs. Lucille Quarles, 52, but he said she did the actual killing.

The sister is Mrs. Evelyn Watson, 24-year-old mother of four children and wife of a Fort Hood soldier. She was arrested after her brother made his statement but said it was he who did the actual killing, not herself.

She demanded a lie detector test, but Texas Ranger Trent Horton said it had been put off because "her brother has told seven different stories and we want to keep on questioning him for a while more."

Horton wouldn't discuss the case any further. But he said the lie detector test has been scheduled for Monday.

Baker announced abruptly Friday that a third person was present at the murder, then wouldn't say anything more about it. He refused to say even if it was a man or woman.

Baker was questioned all through the night last night and into Friday. He punctuated his accusation of his sister with shouts of "God knows everything" and "hallelujah."

The crowd in the square cheered the 79-year old pontiff and then knelt on the cobblestones as he raised his arms in blessing.

The government tourist bureau estimated the number of foreign visitors in Rome for Easter at 25,000. The number was only slightly less than the record through that came here for Easter in the 1950 holy year. Most of the visitors were from Scandinavia and Germany.

Catholics among the foreign visitors joined in the solemn rites of mourning for the day Christ died on the cross. In their services the priests of Rome's churches reminded the faithful of the words of Jesus on the cross: "Father forgive them, for they know not what they do."

President Backs Wilson On Military News Curb

Red Jets In Close Range Of Formosa

TAIPEI, April 8 (UP)—The Chinese Nationalist press said Friday that Red China has based at least 40 Russian-built MIG-15s on a newly completed air field within striking range of Formosa for the first time.

The reports, if true, are expected to herald a new crisis for Formosa. The site of the new base was said to be Luchiao, approximately 200 miles north of Formosa and just south of Taichow Bay.

The English language China News said its information on the arrival of jet fighters at the new base came from "unimpeachable" sources. American military authorities would not comment.

It has been stated, however, that Red China was expected to make a bid for control of the skies over the Formosa Strait before any invasion of Formosa or the Nationalist-held offshore island outposts is attempted.

A high-ranking Nationalist official said.

Rumor Princess In New Romance; Playboy Moves Up

LONDON, April 8 (UP)—An escort of Princess Margaret, who has been in the near background while reports of a romance with group Captain Peter Townsend circulated recently, moved up front Friday in the latest speculation.

Polo playing Billy Wallace was named as the No. 1 prospect by a radio commentator (NBC). The report revived public interest in a subject that only Thursday the Archbishop of Canterbury had sought to still.

The commentator reported that the 29-year-old Wallace, stepson of the American writer Herbert Agar, would become engaged to Margaret this summer. But royal circles quickly said they knew of no serious romance much less any prospective engagement between Wallace and the 24-year-old princess.

Townsend, 40-year-old divorced father of two boys, lost ground in guesswork Thursday on the basis of news dispatches from South Africa.

The Most Rev. Dr. Geoffrey Francis Fisher, Archbishop of Canterbury, who would have to be consulted if the Princess picked a mate, dismissed reports of a romance between Townsend and Margaret as a "newspaper stunt."

Seem's like that old stunt of long distance bicycling is again waging up, after it had long since given up the ghost to the easier and far more rapid transportation by automobile. We have heard of two rather unusual trips being made by bicyclists.

Both cyclists were young men recently completing their stretches in armed service. One was a Shreveport man leaving Barksdale Field. He started this week to ride to his home in Minneapolis. He plans to make it at the rate of 50 miles a day and it will require 25 days. Nights he will stay in motels en route. He had an opportunity to make the trip by auto, but spurned it as "too soft."

Ike Feels Reds Getting Secret Data In Papers

Wilson Expected To Face Issue At News Conference

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—President Eisenhower feels that some technical military secrets have been "made available to the enemy" by publication in this country, his press secretary said today.

Secretary James C. Hagerty said the President is disturbed by the situation.

Asked to cite some specific examples, Hagerty refused to do so on the ground that it might be of further help to an enemy.

Hagerty described Eisenhower's feelings on the subject in response to a request for comment on a published report that the President "is deeply concerned over what he regards as an excessive flow of military information from this country to the Soviet Union."

The article, by Walter Keer in the New York Herald-Tribune, said the President believes that while Soviet technicians may be aware of many developments in this country, they often are unable to influence their political leaders.

Hence, the reasoning goes, the information may lie dormant in some technical report until brought to the attention of Russian political leaders by being published, commented upon, and discussed by radio and television reporters in this country.

Hagerty refused repeatedly to say whether there was any connection between Eisenhower's views and the rigid new information control directives set up on March 30 by Secretary of Defense Wilson.

The White House secretary said he wanted to stress that his remarks about how the President felt were "not intended as a reprimand to any individual or department."

He said the Wilson directives were "entirely a Defense Department matter."

Request To Halt 'Doodle Bug' Rail Service Refused

The Louisiana Public Service Commission has voted unanimously to refuse a request by Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad Company to discontinue its "doodle bug" passenger service between Winnfield and Junction City, Ark.

The Commission revealed yesterday.

However, the Commission granted permission to Missouri Pacific Lines to discontinue its passenger service from Monroe to the Arkansas line, via Collinston and Bastrop.

The Commission also ordered Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific to clean up its "doodle bug" to make it more attractive and cleaner for customers, according to Commissioner John J. McKeithen of Monroe.

Missouri Pacific's request was granted because there was no objection offered. McKeithen pointed out, on the other hand, the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific request met with vigorous opposition from officials of Winnfield and Jonesboro at the commission hearing here on March 23.

Service on the "doodle bug" line north of Junction City was discontinued by permission of the Arkansas Public Service Commission last year.

Cloudy, Mild Is Today's Forecast

Government weather forecasters predict cloudy and mild weather with scattered showers and thunderstorms for Louisiana today and a dry, partly cloudy and warmer Easter Sunday.

The Mississippi forecast is scattered showers Saturday night and showers in the north portion Sunday.

Forecast for Arkansas are increasing cloudiness and mild today followed by showers tonight and mostly cloudy and mild with scattered showers in the east portion Sunday.

The maximum temperature for Monroe yesterday was 70 degrees and the minimum was 46, according to the C. A. A. weather station at Selman field.

Eden Gives Promise To 'Cooperate'

LONDON, April 8 (UP)—Prime Minister Anthony Eden Friday promised "the closest cooperation" to the United States.

Eden's first move on the diplomatic front since his appointment two days ago was to dispatch simultaneous messages to President Eisenhower and U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. He also sent one to Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov.

They were in reply to Washington and Moscow cables congratulating him on becoming British prime minister, but they had a deeper and more far reaching significance.

In his long and warm message to Mr. Eisenhower he said he looked forward "to the closest cooperation with you and your administration at all times."

His message to Molotov expressed Eden's desire for "maintaining the good relations we have enjoyed in the past."

The Soviet foreign minister, in a message published on the front pages of all Friday's Moscow newspapers asked Eden, upon assuming the premiership, to "please accept on this occasion my congratulations and best wishes."

Diplomats saw in Molotov's congratulatory message a hopeful sign. Some suggested it indicated the Soviets want to keep open the door to the West by every device.

Eden's contacts with Moscow, they pointed out, could at any time become a potent factor in resolving the Formosa crisis.

Significantly, they added, it was Eden's contacts with Molotov at last year's Berlin conference which set up the later Geneva meeting that produced the Indo-China cease fire.

Oilman's Widow Charged By State For Buying Death

FORT WORTH, Tex., April 8 (UP)—The state charged oilman William Clark's widow today with promising to pay $10,000 for his murder. It accused three police characters of killing him.

Clark, 61, was shot behind an ear in his 22-room mansion here two years ago.

His blonde widow, 46, was charged today as an accomplice to murder. Murder charges were filed against Leroy (Tiny) Eggleston, Cecil Green and Harry Huggins. Denied Justice Dick Callaway peace bond for $10,000.

The charges allege Eggleston, Huggins and Green shot Clark May 19, 1953.

Mrs. Clark allegedly promised Eggleston $10,000 to kill her husband—who cut her off with $10 in his will and who, before his death, accused her of luring him into marriage for his money.

The accomplice charge carries the same possible death penalty as murder.

Police questioned Mrs. Clark almost 18 hours yesterday and today. She steadfastly denied any part in the slaying.

The charges were filed some 24 hours after officers related a startling story by Huggins, an ex-convict, who said Clark was killed for pay.

Clark's body was found three days after he was shot. At first, suicide was ruled. The ruling later was changed to murder.

Fulton Lewis, Jr., nationally known columnist and radio commentator, and veteran Washington correspondent, is due to arrive in Monroe this morning on a Delta airliner from Atlanta to visit and interview Gen. Claire Chennault.

Gunshot Victim Dies In Hospital

Jimmy Phillips, 62-year-old retired restaurant operator of West Monroe, died at St. Francis hospital late last night. He was found gravely wounded in his car shortly before midnight Thursday.

Investigating officers reported that Phillips was found in his parked car on 28th street with a bullet in his head and a pistol with one round expended lying beside him.

Relatives and friends had reported him missing since early Thursday. They said he had been despondent for several days.

She demanded a lie detector test, but Texas Ranger Trent Horton said it had been put off because "her brother has told seven different stories and we want to keep on questioning him for a while more."

Horton wouldn't discuss the case any further. But he said the lie detector test has been scheduled for Monday.

Baker announced abruptly Friday that a third person was present at the murder, then wouldn't say anything more about it. He refused to say even if it was a man or woman.

Baker was questioned all through the night last night and into Friday. He punctuated his accusation of his sister with shouts of "God knows everything" and "hallelujah."

Red Jets In Close Range Of Formosa

TAIPEI, April 8 (UP)—The Chinese Nationalist press said Friday that Red China has based at least 40 Russian-built MIG-15s on a newly completed air field within striking range of Formosa for the first time.

The reports, if true, are expected to herald a new crisis for Formosa. The site of the new base was said to be Luchiao, approximately 200 miles north of Formosa and just south of Taichow Bay. The English language China News said its information on the arrival of jet fighters at the new base came from "unimpeachable" sources. American military authorities would not comment.

It has been stated, however, that Red China was expected to make a bid for control of the skies over the Formosa Strait before any invasion of Formosa or the Nationalist-held offshore island outposts is attempted.

Rumor Princess In New Romance; Playboy Moves Up

LONDON, April 8 (UP)—An escort of Princess Margaret, who has been in the near background while reports of a romance with group Capt. Peter Townsend circulated recently, moved up front Friday in the latest speculation.

Polo playing Billy Wallace was named as the No. 1 prospect by a radio commentator (NBC). The report revived public interest in a subject that only Thursday the Archbishop of Canterbury had sought to still.

The commentator reported that the 29-year-old Wallace, stepson of the American writer Herbert Agar, would become engaged to Margaret this summer. But royal circles quickly said they knew of no serious romance much less any prospective engagement between Wallace and the 24-year-old princess.

Townsend, 40-year-old divorced father of two boys, lost ground in guesswork Thursday on the basis of news dispatches from South Africa.

The Most Rev. Dr. Geoffrey Francis Fisher, Archbishop of Canterbury, who would have to be consulted if the Princess picked a mate, dismissed reports of a romance between Townsend and Margaret as a "newspaper stunt."

Seen's like that old stunt of long distance bicycling is again waking up, after it had long since given up the ghost to the easier and far more rapid transportation by automobile. We have heard of two rather unusual trips being made by bicyclists.

Both cyclists were young men recently completing their stretches in armed service. One was a Shreveport man leaving Barksdale Field. He started this week to ride to his home in Minneapolis. He plans to make it at the rate of 50 miles a day and it will require 25 days. Nights he will stay in motels en route. He had an opportunity to make the trip by auto, but spurned it as "too soft."

Ike Feels Reds Getting Secret Data In Papers

Wilson Expected To Face Issue At News Conference

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—President Eisenhower feels that some technical military secrets have been "made available to the enemy" by publication in this country, his press secretary said today.

Secretary James C. Hagerty said the President is disturbed by the situation.

Asked to cite some specific examples, Hagerty refused to do so on the ground that it might be of further help to an enemy.

Hagerty described Eisenhower's feelings on the subject in response to a request for comment on a published report that the President "is deeply concerned over what he regards as an excessive flow of military information from this country to the Soviet Union."

The article, by Walter Keer in the New York Herald-Tribune, said the President believes that while Soviet technicians may be aware of many developments in this country, they often are unable to influence their political leaders.

Hence, the reasoning goes, the information may lie dormant in some technical report until brought to the attention of Russian political leaders by being published, commented upon, and discussed by radio and television reporters in this country.

Hagerty refused repeatedly to say whether there was any connection between Eisenhower's views and the rigid new information control directives set up on March 30 by Secretary of Defense Wilson.

The White House secretary said he wanted to stress that his remarks about how the President felt were "not intended as a reprimand to any individual or department."

He said the Wilson directives were "entirely a Defense Department

Request To Halt 'Doodle Bug' Rail Service Refused

The Louisiana Public Service Commission has voted unanimously to refuse a request by Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad Company to discontinue its "doodle bug" passenger service between Winnfield and Junction City, Ark., the Commission revealed yesterday.

However, the Commission granted permission to Missouri Pacific Lines to discontinue its passenger service from Monroe to the Arkansas line, via Collinston and Bastrop.

The Commission also ordered Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific to clean up its "doodle bug" to make it more attractive and cleaner for customers, according to Commissioner John J. McKeithen of Monroe.

Missouri Pacific's request was granted because there was no objection offered, McKeithen pointed out. On the other hand, the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific request met with vigorous opposition from officials of Winnfield and Jonesboro at the commission hearing here on March 23.

Service on the "doodle bug" line north of Junction City was discontinued by permission of the Arkansas Public Service Commission last year.

Cloudy, Mild Is Today's Forecast

Government weather forecasters predict cloudy and mild weather with scattered showers and thundershowers for Louisiana today and a dry, partly cloudy and warmer Easter Sunday.

The Mississippi forecast is scattered showers Saturday night and showers in the north portion Sunday.

Forecast for Arkansas are increasing cloudiness and mild to dry followed by showers tonight and mostly cloudy and mild with scattered showers in the east portion Sunday.

The maximum temperature for Monroe yesterday was 70 degrees and the minimum was 46, according to the C. A. A. weather station at Selman field.

Eden Gives Promise To 'Cooperate'

LONDON, April 8 (UP)—Prime Minister Anthony Eden Friday promised "the closest cooperation" to the United States.

Eden's first move on the diplomatic front since his appointment two days ago was to dispatch simultaneous messages to President Eisenhower and U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. He also sent one to Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov.

They were in reply to Washington and Moscow cables congratulating him on becoming British prime minister, but they had a deeper and more far reaching significance.

In his long and warm message to Mr. Eisenhower he said he looked forward "to the closest co-operation with you and your administration at all times."

His message to Molotov expressed Eden's desire for "maintaining the good relations we have enjoyed in the past."

The Soviet foreign minister, in a message published on the front pages of all Friday's Moscow newspapers asked Eden, upon assuming the premiership, to "please accept on this occasion my congratulations and best wishes."

Diplomats saw in Molotov's congratulatory message a hopeful sign. Some suggested it indicated the Soviets want to keep open the door to the West by every device. Eden's contacts with Moscow, they pointed out, could at any time become a potent factor in resolving the Formosa crisis.

Significantly, they added, it was Eden's contacts with Molotov at last year's Berlin conference which set up the later Geneva meeting that produced the Indo-China cease fire.

Dulles said nothing about "dropping" Corsi from his three-month-old job as the secretary's special assistant on refugee problems.

Corsi, who was hired for the job with President Eisenhower's blessing, said Thursday night the State Department was ending his job. Corsi said he was shocked at the move. He said he did not know whether he would take another post if one was offered to him.

Dulles' brief statement Friday said the secretary "reiterated his confidence in Mr. Corsi and denied reports that his State Department status involved any questions of security."

Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.), chairman of the House Un-American Activities committee, has accused Corsi of past association with Communist-front organizations. Corsi and the State Department have denied the charge.

Dulles said Corsi's proposed new assignment "would involve a survey with reference to the possibilities of land settlement for immigrants in Latin America and other areas."

"Mr. Corsi has agreed to consider taking on this new assignment," Dulles said.

Fulton Lewis, Jr. Is Due Here Today

Fulton Lewis, Jr., nationally known columnist and radio commentator, and veteran Washington correspondent, is due to arrive in Monroe this morning on a Delta airliner from Atlanta to visit and interview Gen. Claire Chennault.

Recently, Lewis went to Formosa, where he held talks with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek. He wrote several articles detailing his impressions of this Pacific bastion against communism.

His syndicated column is a feature in the editorial page of the Monroe News-Star.

Gen. Chennault, a Monroe resident, immortalized the "Flying Tigers" in world war II in the Asiatic theater, and his name and history have become a legend. He is actively interested in civilian aviation in the Far East.

Gunshot Victim Dies In Hospital

Jimmy Phillips, 62-year-old retired restaurant operator of West Monroe, died at St. Francis hospital late last night. He was found gravely wounded in his car shortly before midnight Thursday.

Investigating officers reported that Phillips was found in his parked car on 28th street with a bullet in his head and a pistol with one round expended lying beside him.

Relatives and friends had reported him missing since early Thursday. They said he had been despondent for several days.

Oilman's Widow Charged By State For Buying Death

FORT WORTH, Tex., April 8 (UP)—The state charged oilman William Clark's widow today with promising to pay $10,000 for his murder. It accused three police characters of killing him.

Clark, 61, was shot behind an ear in his 22-room mansion here two years ago.

His blonde widow, 46, was charged today as an accomplice to murder. Murder charges were filed against Leroy (Tiny) Eggleston, Cecil Green and Harry Huggins. Peace Justice Dick Callaway denied bond for all four.

The charges allege Eggleston, Huggins and Green shot Clark May 19, 1953.

Mrs. Clark allegedly promised Eggleston $10,000 to kill her husband—who cut her off with $10 in his will and who, before his death, accused her of luring him into marriage for his money.

The accomplice charge carries the same possible death penalty as murder.

Police questioned Mrs. Clark almost 18 hours yesterday and today. She steadfastly denied any part in the slaying.

The charges were filed some 24 hours after officers related a startling story by Huggins, an ex-convict, who said Clark was killed for pay.

Clark's body was found three days after he was shot. At first, suicide was ruled. The ruling later was changed to murder.

SHREVEPORT, La., April 8 (Special)—Three unidentified men who hijacked a truck with a $23,000 load of whiskey and wine near Tullas Monday and told the driver "You'll find your truck in Mississippi" seem to have taken the opposite direction from the one they indicated.

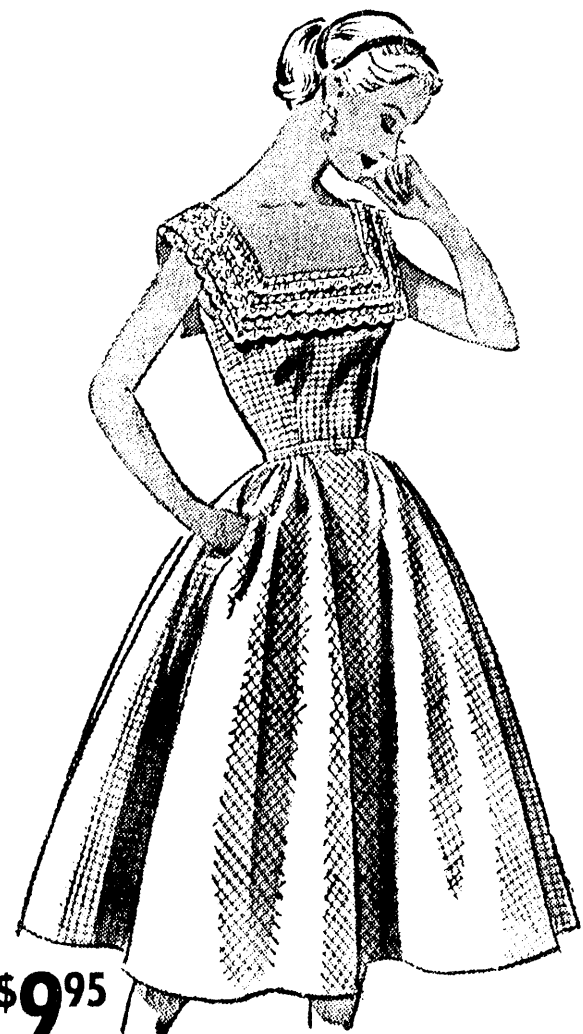

Thursday the truck, without its cargo, was found abandoned in a wooded area about 35 miles north of here between Hodessa and Vivian.

Sheriff Jimmy Goslin of Caddo parish opined that the whiskey and wine were transferred to another truck and taken to bootleggers in

Children's Home Seeks Donations

The only children's home in the state which is supported with funds supplied by Methodist churches, is seeking donations to bolster its treasury.

It is the Methodist Children's Home in Ruston. Proceeds of Easter offering given in churches Sunday throughout will be turned over to administrators of the home which cares for more than 100 orphan boys and girls.

Since 1948 six new buildings have been erected on the campus of the home, and construction is under way on one to replace the antiquated main building, at a cost of $230,000.

Long Is Honored Guest At Norris, Reynolds Fish Fry

Former Governor Earl K. Long, one of Louisiana's first announced contenders in the next gubernatorial race was the guest of honor last night at an outdoor fish fry in West Monroe.

Long was entertained and met several hundred friends and supporters at the estate of H. Norris. Norris and Odie Reynolds sponsored the gathering.

Long, while he spoke briefly, did not make any reference to the coming campaign. Asked in an interview when he expected to get into his campaign, Long said he would probably get into action "around July 4th." He pointed out "That's when Louisiana politics usually get underway."

Long expressed confidence that he is strong at this time. "There would be no question of my victory if the election was tomorrow," Long said.

Appearing on the speaker's platform last night, with brief comment, were Mr. and Mrs. Long, William Norris, Sr., Hobson Norris, Reynolds and Robert C. Ervin, who acted as master of ceremonies.

Included among the guests were several sheriffs from northeast Louisiana, several local officials and others well known throughout the fifth district.

union leaders without reporting progress.

The strike began March 14 at expiration of the CIO contract. The company announced it had offered wage increases totaling some six million dollars, on condition the union accepted a no-strike clause in a new contract. Union leaders claimed the move was an effort to cripple the CWA, that the wage hike would benefit only top-level workers and that working conditions and some provision for arbitrating disputes also were still to be agreed upon.

The union claims about 40,000 members walked out and service is being carried on by 10,000 supervisory employees.

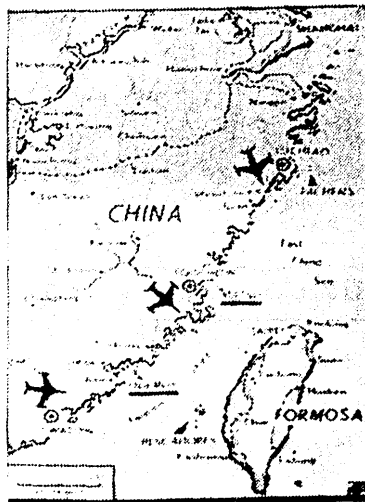

The pay of telephone operators varies with the contract maximum for larger centers approximating $57 weekly. For plant workers the maximum contract pay is $91 in the Atlanta area.

A recruiting program seeking workers to replace strikers, brought a union statement that an effort was being made to intimidate strikers through threatened loss of pensions.

The national CIO executive committee today pledged the union's "moral and financial support to these patriotic American CIO trade unionists fighting for a just and reasonable cause."

A committee resolution said Southern Bell is engaged in a "vicious effort to weaken, if not destroy the CIO Communication Workers of America in nine South-eastern states."

At the same time it was reported that the Reds are rushing to completion another new air base at Poochow, only 35 miles west of the Matsu Islands.

Bond Posted By Woman Charged In Welfare Case

A Monroe woman, charged with fraudulently accepting $1,610 in welfare aid over a period of 16 months, has been released from the parish jail after posting a $500 bond.

Assistant District Attorney, Gilbert T. Brown, identified the woman as Bertha B. Bolden, Negro, of 1300 Grammont street.

The woman arrested by sheriff deputies earlier this week, was not entitled to welfare payments "since at least September, 1953," according to the warrant sworn out for her apprehension.

Brown stated that the warrant was issued after an investigation of the woman's case by welfare office and its auditing team.

The woman had been on the "aid rolls" since December of 1948, and up until her removal in December of 1954, according to welfare officials.

In the statement against the woman, welfare workers said that the woman on two different occasions told them her husband, Mark Bolden, was not living with her and did not give any support for her children.

Information was received by a member of the state welfare auditing team, however, that the husband was living at the address listed by Bertha Bolden.

Various testaments of neighbors stated that Bolden was supposed to have lived at the residence from a date sometime in September.

With the two local clubs acting as hosts.

In other activities sponsored by the local clubs, a donkey basketball game was held at the West Monroe gym last night, and another is scheduled there Saturday at 7:30 p.m.

Corsi, who had waited at his home all day to see Dulles, was summoned to the State Department where he conferred with the secretary. They were closeted together when Dulles' announcement was handed to newsmen.

Dulles said Corsi "was originally asked by the department to conduct a survey of the refugee relief program."

"In that connection, he visited Italy, Greece, Germany and other countries of Europe to examine the development of the program," it said.

"Mr. Corsi has now completed a report to the secretary of state. This report contains a number of recommendations and some of them have already been put into effect."

There had been reports Corsi would be offered a "less sensitive" state department post because of Walter's charges.

Presidential Press Secretary

The woman arrested by sheriff deputies earlier this week, was not entitled to welfare payments "since at least September, 1953," according to the warrant sworn out for her apprehension.

Brown stated that the warrant was issued after an investigation of the woman's case by welfare office and its auditing team.

The woman had been on the "aid rolls" since December of 1948, and up until her removal in December of 1954, according to welfare officials.

In the statement against the woman, welfare workers said that the woman on two different occasions told them her husband, Mark Bolden, was not living with her and did not give any support for her children.

Information was received by a member of the state welfare auditing team, however, that the husband was living at the address listed by Bertha Bolden.

Various statements of neighbors stated that Bolden was supposed to have lived at the residence from a date sometime in September.

Corsi, who had waited at his home all day to see Dulles, was summoned to the State Department where he conferred with the secretary. They were closeted together when Dulles' announcement was handed to newsmen.

Dulles said Corsi "was originally asked by the department to conduct a survey of the refugee relief program."

"In that connection, he visited Italy, Greece, Germany and other countries of Europe to examine the development of the program," it said.

"Mr. Corsi has now completed a report to the secretary of state. This report contains a number of recommendations and some of them have already been put into effect."

There had been reports Corsi would be offered a "less sensitive" state department post because of Walter's charges.

James C. Hagerty said earlier Friday Corsi was not a White House appointee. He said the White House was not consulted about ending his job as a special adviser to Dulles and all he knew about it was what he read in the papers.

The strike began March 14 at expiration of the CIO contract. The company announced it had offered wage increases totaling some six million dollars, on condition the union accepted a no-strike clause in a new contract. Union leaders claimed the move was an effort to cripple the CWA, that the wage hike would benefit only top-level workers and that working conditions and some provision for arbitrating disputes also were still to be agreed upon.

The union claims about 40,000 members walked out and service is being carried on by 10,000 supervisory employees.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

It's a sheer madness to try to be a perfect housekeeper when you have children.

Can't Be Perfectionist If Baby Is In House

A letter from a reader says, "I have a friend who is a new mother but she doesn't seem to be enjoying it. She is so meticulous, and such a perfectionist, that she doesn't want the baby's things to be seen at any time."

"She takes the baby upstairs every time she diapers it and keeps everything belonging to it out of sight since she cannot stand seeing the house the least bit upset."

"This is very exhausting and tiring for her but she doesn't seem to realize it, and thinks it is the care of the new baby which is tiring her. If she learned to save herself steps and would keep some of the baby's things downstairs during the day, she would not be so tired. How can a person get over being a perfectionist and a slave to her home? I wish you would write a column about this."

Fun

Motherhood should be fun! This is certainly an extreme attitude, and one which is tiring for the mother and uncomfortable for the rest of the family.

Of course there is the other extreme which is about as bad; the home which is completely changed with the arrival of the offspring. There is no or little companionship between the husband and wife, and the entire house takes on the atmosphere of a nursery.

There are safety pins, and diapers and pads, and general clutter everywhere from then on. The whole house seems to stand on tiptoe, to warn the trespasser that this is the baby's house! Of course a middle-of-the-road policy is desirable in this instance as it is in so many others.

Can't Be Perfect

I believe it to be very unprofitable in emotional values to try to be a perfect housekeeper, and sheer madness to try to be one when you have children, or even one child.

Of course, a pleasant home atmosphere has great emotional values, but when pursued to the point of perfection it can be most uncomfortable for the husband, children and friends, and is a loss to the woman.

When Junior is a little older he is going to clutter the house whether mother likes it or not. And if mother plans to enforce her perfectionism on him, she will never really know or enjoy him. Both will lose by this. The new mother should save steps during the day and then pull herself and the house together before her husband comes home from work. I think that this latter is most important for all concerned, but at all costs there should be no worry about what "Mrs. Neighbor" thinks.

Many a man would have settled for a rested, gay wife rather than a perfect house and many a child for the same kind of mother, even if things were not always in place!

Driver Injured In Truck Crash

The driver of a gravel truck was seriously injured late yesterday afternoon in an accident on state highway 815 approximately seven miles northeast of Sterling.

Rubin B. Bennett suffered a badly lacerated hand, fracture of seven ribs and a laceration of the ear, according to sources at St. Francis hospital, where he was undergoing surgery.

State police tentatively reported that something apparently came loose under the gravel truck, causing it to go out of control, run off the road and strike a tree. However, they had not completed their investigation at the time of the report.

Bennett, 47, is a resident of Choudrant.

Archbishop Says Papers Misquoted Him On Princess

GRAHAMSTOWN, South Africa, April 8 (AP) — The Archbishop of Canterbury says he was incorrectly quoted when Capetown reporters questioned him yesterday about rumors that Princess Margaret is to wed.

"I was not asked whether there is any truth in the rumors that Princess Margaret will marry Group Capt. Peter Townsend," Archbishop Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, said today. "I was asked: 'have you anything to say about Princess Margaret?' to which I replied 'No comment.'"

"I was then asked 'Is everybody in England talking about this?' To which I replied that it was a stunt — and a most offensive one at that — by a few English newspapers. Regrettably some of the overseas news agencies appear to have taken over the one newspaper report which did not accurately record what I had said."

The original story quoted him as saying "There is no truth whatsoever in the rumor that Princess Margaret and Group Capt. Peter Townsend are to wed." It appeared on the front page of the Capetown newspaper, Cape Argus, last night. The story was by an Argus staff reporter who attended yesterday's shipboard news conference just after the Archbishop's arrival from England.

The Archbishop — highest prelate of the Church of England — and his wife are on a two-month visit in South, Central and East Africa. They came here late yesterday from Capetown.

Before word of the Archbishop's denial reached London, however, the British Broadcasting Corp. used the original story from Capetown. It was BBC's first comment ever on the question of Princess Margaret's romance. BBC carried the denial in later broadcasts.

London's mass circulation newspapers have carried stories that Princess Margaret, 24, and Townsend, 40 and the divorced father of two, hope to marry, possibly next fall. London's newspapers have not published in more than two weeks because of a strike of 700 maintenance men and electricians.

The Church of England opposes remarriage of divorced persons whose first partners remain alive. Townsend's former wife has remarried and lives in England. Townsend is air attaché at the British Embassy in Brussels.

The New York conservation department burned three tons of feathers in 1951 to comply with a law making it illegal to use the plumage of wild birds for millinery.

Police Question Companions After Waitress Slain

BIRMINGHAM, April 8 (AP) — Companions of a pretty night club waitress whose bruised body was found in a lonely lover's lane were questioned about her last hours of life today.

Deputy coroner James O. Butler said Mrs. Emma Jean Reed Winsett, 22, died of a skull fracture, and in addition her body was bruised and right hand skinned.

The woman was a former resident of Eupora, Miss., where she had managed a cafe and worked in other restaurants. She told friends here she was married last October to Richard Winsett, now serving in the Navy off Formosa.

Coroner J. O. Hildebrand said the lover's lane where the woman's body was found was a "horrible place." He said the location near Sadler's Gap, two miles east of the city limits was the site of "more rapes and murders than any place in the (Jefferson) county."

A passing motorist saw the woman's body sprawled in a ditch about 1 a.m. this morning, and notified police.

Sheriff's officers said that a man was robbed in the same lane several hours before the woman's body was found, and a service station was held up about three miles away last night.

The victim had been in Birmingham only a few weeks, according to her landlady. She was a waitress at the Cavu Club, a private place, but was off last night.

Bogalusa Asks For Rail Terminal At New Orleans

BATON ROUGE, April 8 (AP) — The Gulf, Mobile & Ohio Railroad today protested demands by Bogalusa that it build a passenger depot in New Orleans.

Rail attorneys filed an answer with the Louisiana Public Service Commission to the latest move by Bogalusa officials fighting loss of rail passenger connection with New Orleans.

Bogalusa is attempting to force the GM&O, through the commission, to resume service to New Orleans.

A Bogalusa petition recently demanded the railroad restore passenger service and build a New Orleans depot.

In its reply, the GM&O contended the commission has no authority to order a depot built, and said the GM&O cannot use the new union terminal in New Orleans.

10,000 Join Good Friday Procession

Pilgrims Retrace Christ's Last Steps In Jerusalem

JERUSALEM, April 8 (AP) — An estimated 10,000 pilgrims in solemn procession retraced Christ's last steps through the narrow, roughly paved via Dolorosa Friday in the Jordan-held old city of Jerusalem.

Among them were Americans, Britons, French, Germans, South American and other nationalities. They included both Protestants and Catholics.

Each language group formed a separate section in the procession and stopped to kneel and pray at each of the 14 stations of the way of the cross.

The pilgrims sang hymns in many languages in several groups carried wooden crosses on their shoulders.

The procession reached the first station at the site of the Praetorium, the judgement hall where Christ was condemned to death, and then proceeded down several steps to the second station where the cross was bound upon Christ's shoulders.

The pilgrims passed under the arch called "Ecce Homo" where, according to tradition, lies the same pavement upon which Christ trod.

The procession passed the seventh station where Christ met a group of women and told them: "Weep not for me, but weep for yourselves and for your children." Via Dolorosa ends after the eighth station and the pilgrims passed through the street of Bad Cookery, so-called by the crusaders because of the food sold there.

The pilgrims' next stop was the ninth station where Christ fell for the third time.

The procession passed the seventh station where Christ met a group of women and told them: "Weep not for me, but weep for yourselves and for your children."

Via Dolorosa ends after the eighth station and the pilgrims passed through the street of Bad Cookery, so-called by the crusaders because of the food sold there.

The pilgrims' next stop was the ninth station where Christ fell for the third time.

Anthony Eden And American Policy

We in America, from a people's standpoint, chafe at British policies and re-live the Revolutionary War and the War of 1812. The British upbraid us on numerous occasions.

In fact, these quarrels are the outpourings of cousins, for our nation is predominantly, by blood and ideology, of British descent. And behind it all, there is the deep affection of kinship.

Lest we forget, Britain still rules a fifth of the globe; and is one of the world's great nations. The sun still does not set on the British Empire. The idea that we can break away from Britain, with safety to ourselves, is as foolish as the idea that Britain can break away from us. The two great English-speaking powers are bound together, not only by blood and ideological ties, but by the very necessity of self-preservation, in a world gone half mad.

We cannot figure an American defense without British participation, unless we figure a last beleaguered stand on the American continent. The British cannot vision a defense of their tight little islands without massive American participation.

Into this picture comes Sir Anthony Eden, the new British prime minister, one of the world's most experienced statesmen, for years the Segundo to Sir Winston Churchill.

Eden ascends to power at a time when the differences between America and Britain are whetted razor-sharp. We are committed to the defense of Formosa. The British, from their great trading post at Hong Kong, are in fact committed to trade with Red China. If they were not, Hong Kong probably would be the number 1 objective of Red Chinese conquest.

The British have recognized Red China, and been kicked around for several years, attempting to establish a liaison with this brutish and unpredictable force, at Peiping. Yet they profit by a vast trade.

Where the British lean over backward to appease the Red Chinese as brothers, they wage a brutal war in South Africa to deny native Negroes the elemental right accorded even to slaves in colonial America. British South Africa is a volcano, possibly the greatest breeding-ground of communism in the world today.

Under the Truman-Acheson regime, and to some extent when Franklin D. Roosevelt was President, the United States slavishly followed British promptings. It was the tail of the dog, wagging whenever London spoke.

Today, under Ike and Dulles, America speaks for itself.

Eden will have to accommodate his thinking to this great fact. His ability to recognize and adjust to a firm American policy will be one measure of his statesmanship.

Flexibility And The Free Market

One of the many outstanding virtues of the free market is its flexibility. It responds swiftly and accurately to the pressures of the natural economic law of supply and demand.

An excellent example of this is found in some information issued by the American Meat Institute. A short time ago hog marketings were extremely heavy—as much as 25 per cent greater than in the comparable period a year before. This was reflected strongly in the prices paid by both wholesalers and ultimate consumers. Retail prices were 18 to 39 per cent under the level of a year earlier.

Now, as happens every year at this time, marketings are gradually tapering off. The next seasonal rise should occur in August and September, when the spring pig crop is marketed. Again we may confidently expect prices to reflect the situation as it changes.

Other meats have also been in abundant supply, and at very reasonable prices. On a recent date, the wholesale meat price index was 81 per cent of the 1947-49 base period average—its lowest point since price controls were ended in 1946. And it must be remembered that when the price controls were in effect, imposing artificially low prices, producers were forced to retrench, there were serious meat shortages, and about the only beneficiaries were black market operators.

All Cartels Are Bad

A staff group working for a body called the Economic Commission for Europe has produced a paper attacking the American oil companies which are operating in the Middle East. All kinds of charges are made concerning prices and profits and other important matters. The solution proposed is the establishment of government cartels.

One of the American Oil companies* which pioneered Middle East development has refuted, with actual facts, these claims. In addition it observes: "When one considers the recent accomplishment of these companies which, at the request of their respective governments, reached an agreement with Iran that thwarted a possible communist coup, and when one considers also the contributions these companies make to the economic and military strength of the free world, one is perhaps justified in questioning either the motives or the wisdom of the paper's authors." On the question of cartels, it says: "A government cartel is no better, and may indeed be worse, than a private cartel. We are opposed to both. Our long business experience, both at home and abroad, convinces us that, given equal opportunity, a competitive business can do better for consumers than a cartelized business any time."

This is an accurate reflection of the attitude of the American oil industry—including both the companies which have overseas interests and those which confine their operations to this country. And it is the attitude which has brought almost unbelievable progress in oil development, here and abroad alike.

THESE DAYS

The Resurrection

In ancient lore, it is said that King Solomon wore a ring upon which was engraved certain Hebrew letters. When asked what they meant, this wisest of men translated them into the phrase, "These too shall pass away."

And who shall say on Easter day that so optimistic an idea can be untrue? For Easter is a tale of 1922 years ago and it is still being celebrated, not so much as the story of a death as it is the saga of life, of life eternal, of the rhythmic resurrection of all that lives in this world.

In this age of science, we are beginning to grasp what the theologians always knew, namely, that there is no death. Nothing totally disappears. There may be change; there may be an alteration of form or even of substance, but in the economy of nature nothing is lost. There is no destruction without a fall-out, which returns to the earth what left the earth. This the men of God always knew—"I am the Resurrection!"

Maimonides, the 750th anniversary of whose death is to be celebrated this year, in his "The Guide for the Perplexed," wrote:

"... Even the existence of this corporeal element, low as it is in reality, is because it is the source of death and all evils, is likewise good for the permanence of the Universe and the continuation of the order of things, so that one thing departs and the other succeeds. Rabbi Meir therefore explains the words 'and behold it is very good'; that even death was good."

St. Augustine speaks the same thought but more emotionally: "... O what said he, I will lay me down and sleep, for who shall hinder us, when cometh to pass that saying which is written, Death is swallowed up in victory? And Thou surprisingly art the Self-same. Who are not changed; and in Thee is rest which forgetteth all toil, for there is none other than Thee, nor are we to seek these many other things, which are not what Thou art; but Thou, Lord, alone hast made me dwell in hope..."

This noble uplifting of the human spirit is inherent in the idea of the resurrection, in the gamut of tense activity in all of nature when that which during the winter months looked drab and brown and barren, suddenly again comes to life in a fierce struggle over the chilling, freezing death which we thought was upon us. As the sun grows warmer and the grass green again and the buds break out upon the trees, we know that there is no death. We see that there is always life.

Those who live in fear cannot know the glory of the eternal life. For what is there to fear? The same philosopher, Moses Maimonides, as he is called, ended this sage work, "The Guide for the Perplexed," which had such a vast influence on Thomas Aquinas, with this ultimate paragraph:

"God is near to all who call Him, if they call Him in truth, and turn to Him. He is found by every one who seeks Him, if he always goes towards Him, and never goes astray." And this is the reminder of Easter. The world is dark; the clouds are black; the clamor of fierce noises are upon the earth. Men speak of war and look upon their sons in disappointment. But Easter comes and the sun shines. It is spring and the flowers soon will bloom. He who died has been resurrected and all that dies will be resurrected. And so, we cast our cares aside and put on our Easter bonnets and go among our neighbors with cheer and song.

Nothing ever dies. Life is everlasting and eternal. That is God's way. Were it not so, there could be no hope, no love, no life. Were it not so, populations would not increase, for why should the hopeless beget others who can only be hopeless. The lie is given to the materialist, who sees nothing in life but dust to dust, by the constancy of the increase of human life. We multiply because life is good and those who really live do not fear death, for in their progeny they recognize the eternity of life. Nothing real stops because snakes wane and not even the hydrogen bomb can frighten because it cannot really kill the spirit of those who trust God and are therefore not afraid.

Decline In Immigration Cuts Foreign-Born Ratio

WASHINGTON — If present immigration quotas for 85 other nations were abolished, and the total number of immigrants allowed to enter the U. S. each year were raised from 154,000 to 251,000, would the "homogeneity" of the U. S. population be disturbed?

"Yes," say those who oppose a bill, sponsored by New York's Sen. Emanuel Celler, which would make such a change in the Immigration and Nationality Act of 1952. And according to an analysis by Congressional Quarterly, these opponents probably will stymie the bill during the present session.

While it is difficult to predict ethnic changes which might take place in the future, some interesting clues from the recent past seem to indicate that U. S. "homogeneity" is reasonably assured, barring a much greater increase in immigration than any now proposed.

Some 40 million immigrants have entered the U. S. since 1820—34 million from Europe, five million from the Western Hemisphere and one million from Asia. During the same period, however, total population has jumped from 10 to 163 million.

Immigration mounted from 1820 on, until it reached its peak in the decade from 1906 to 1915, when some 9.4 million immigrants, or almost a million a year, entered the country. With the first quota law of 1921 the influx began to fall off, and in the 10 years from 1941 to 1950 barely 1 million were admitted.

Even these figures, however, are slightly deceptive. Many immigrants arrived in the U. S. only to decide later that they wished to return to the old country. In the 10 years between 1911 and 1950, some 3.8 million aliens emigrated from the U. S., leaving net immigration for the period of 7.6 million. During the early 1930's, when the country was in the throes of a depression, emigrants actually outnumbered immigrants by 100,000.

The fall-off in net immigration, coupled with the rapid increase in total U. S. population, has markedly affected the ratio of foreign-born in the country. In 1900, the total population was 76 million, of which 10.3 million or 13.6 per cent was foreign-born. When the last census was taken in 1950, the total had climbed to 150 million, but the number of foreign-born was the same as 30 years earlier—10.3 million. This number now constituted only 6.8 per cent. Deaths helped to achieve this apparent stability, despite the influx of some 15 million new immigrants during the same period.

Similarly, both the number and the ratio of Americans one or both of whose parents were born in another country have been declining. Census statistics (for the white population only) show that native white persons of foreign or mixed parentage numbered 25.9 million in 1930 or 21.1 per cent of the total population. Their number had dropped to 23.6 million in 1950 and their ratio to 15.7 per cent.

When lumped together in what the Bureau of the Census calls the "foreign white stock," the foreign-born and natives of foreign or mixed parentage numbered 33.9 million in 1950 or 22.4 per cent of the total population. Of this group, the largest number (6.8 million) were located in New York State, where they constituted 45.9 per cent of the state's population.

Percentage-wise, however, New York trails three New England states. Foreign white stock makes up 48.9 per cent of Rhode Island's population, 48.5 per cent of Massachusetts' and 48 per cent of Connecticut's. At the other end of the scale are North and South Carolina, where the foreign white stock is only 1.1 per cent.

In Louisiana, where the 1950 census showed a total population of 2,683,516, there were 28,884 foreign-born and 87,240 native white of foreign or mixed parentage. Together, they made up 4.3 per cent of the state's total population.

The national origins of the foreign white stock have shifted to some extent with the ebb and flow of immigration over the years. Most immigrants from Germany, Ireland, Great Britain and Sweden arrived before 1900, while most of those from Italy, Austria-Hungary, Russia, Canada and Mexico came in after 1900.

Easter

Easter is the joyful morning when the sun dances in the heavens because life is reborn. The stone has been rolled away from the silent dark and that which was thought to be dead, forever lost to sight and sound has risen to life again and all Creation sings, "He is risen."

This renewal of life is spiritual and actual. All creation feels it. The sun shines with strengthened light; the buds swell; the flowers bloom in the softened air. The songs of returning birds send a wave of warmth and hope to hearts grown cold beneath the gloom and chill of winter. Heads long bowed in sadness lift with new gladness. Eyes shadowed in fear glow with renewed courage. Backs bent under the weight of the cross straighten triumphantly as the burden rolls away. "He is risen."

In this lies the meaning of Easter. The story of the cross dramatizes it. Nature tells it in the progress of the seasons, in her way with earth, sea and sky. We live it every day. The steady round of toil, endurance, overcoming and rejoicing, tell it over and again to every living soul.

Each must bear his own cross. Each of us sees a part of him die as a cherished dream fades, a hope is denied, a trust betrayed. It is so that we know death and by faith rise again to the knowledge that life will be renewed in us that we may rise to a better, nobler spirit.

Without the hope and promise of Easter, the belief in the resurrection, we could not go on. The faith of Easter is the knowledge that in time the stone that burdens our spirit will be rolled away and the life that seemed hopelessly ended will be renewed in better spirit and heightened power. It is that faith that gives meaning to life's trials.

But there must be that faith. There must be firm belief. Faith, the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen, is inherent in the Easter message. Belief in one's self; belief in other people; belief in the wisdom and goodness of God is what restores the spirit and brings it to triumphant life once more.

There is no reality in death. Its power is temporary. Life is eternal, forever renewed, forever triumphant.

"He is risen."

was Germany, with 4.7 million, followed closely by Italy, with 4.6 million. Other major countries of origin were Canada (3 million), Poland (2.8 million), Russia (2.5 million), and Ireland (2.4 million). In fiscal 1954, the first full year after the Immigration and Nationality Act of 1952 took effect, 208,000 immigrants were admitted to the U. S., but only 94,000 under quotas. Mexico led with 37,000, followed by Germany (33,000), Canada (27,000), Great Britain (19,000) and Italy (15,000). Their ethnic impact must be judged in terms of a U. S. population that is growing by 2.5 million a year.

Big Four Conference

The expectation of leading government figures that a Big Four conference will be held sometime this year, or early in 1956, is being subjected to criticism on the ground that as usual, the United States is too eager to make concessions in order to obtain what it seeks.

Our objectives are extremely broad, and our hope for a long period of peace as a result of a conference between ourselves, Britain, France and Russia could lead to agreements which would be as likely to result eventually in war as in peace.

Such a conference if seemingly successful in launching a world disarmament program could mean that President Eisenhower would not be a candidate for renomination, as he has intimated that improved world conditions could be the persuading factor in his decision.

The principle critics of any "Big Four" conference are bound to be those senators of the president's own party who are firmly convinced that the Soviets cannot be trusted to observe any agreements they might make, particularly since they now have Red China as an ally, and that the Chinese Communists want to expand in Asia, which the U. S., Britain and France would be bound to oppose.

The sour taste left by the Yalta papers, among members of both political parties, has left many members of Congress who are normally interested in improving our foreign relations quite cool to the Big Four conference idea. They doubt that much of benefit could be derived from such a meeting at this time. Soviet Russia is good at handling conferences, as those since World War II have indicated. While Joe Stalin won't be around this time, there is no individual among the other foreign ministers who gives much indication of being able to cope with Vyacheslav Molotov, who prompted Stalin at every turn at the Yalta conference.

Henceforth there will be no international conference so far as the United States is concerned of which the results are not approved by the United States senate. Even Democrats have said recently that Franklin D. Roosevelt was "taken" at Yalta where two chiefs of state of free nations met more than match in a dictator who had to account to no one.

It is considered likely here that the next conference if one is held will be at the foreign ministers level, rather than of chiefs of state. That would bring Molotov in touch with John Foster Dulles, Anthony Eden and whomsoever happens to be foreign minister of France at the moment. It would probably start off with a demand from Molotov that Red China be included at least as a spectator, which Britain and France would be almost obligated to approve, leaving the U. S. holding the bag from the very beginning.

This country would have a fairly sharp group of diplomatic advisors at this meeting, better than the Yalta gathering, the records of which make our representatives look pretty amateurish. What the American "statesmen" have to learn is that the United States wants concessions too, and must not be expected to continue indefinitely in the giveaway role.

What surprises some senators here is that the United States has never succeeded — or perhaps never seriously attempted — to bring Latin America into conference rooms as an ally. One of the reasons of course, is the attitude of Argentina, which has been anti-U. S. for most of the last quarter century. Another is that so many of the Central and South American nations are small and thus have been ignored by the major powers of Europe. The result is that Latin American countries with the exception of Mexico have been treated with colonial indifference by the United States, and have resented it.

Now the Eisenhower administration, as did the Roosevelt — Hull team are trying to make up for a long period in which we have been unpopular among most of our southern neighbors.

The United Nations has helped improve this situation to some extent. But until Latin America can be persuaded that the United States is its best friend, thus uniting the western hemisphere, the Communists will be exerting every effort to win those nations over to their side.

Worry Clinic

By Dr. George W. Crane

Pete's shrewd question brings out an odd fact about salesmanship. Greater confidence, even though based on unsound doctrines, may actually raise a salesman's batting averages temporarily. But true salesmanship must be founded on scientific techniques for long time success.

Case N-396: Pete W., aged 41, is a very successful Sales Manager for a famous American company.

"Dr. Crane, I notice you say that phrenologists and physiognomists are not regarded as scientific," he began.

"Well, I am doubly interested, for last year I put my O. K. on bringing a phrenologist to address our salesmen. He conducted a 6-weeks' course and each man paid $50 tuition.

"As a result of that course, moreover, our sales output increased very definitely.

"So how could this phrenologist be unscientific and yet pep up our salesmen?"

Confidence That's a fair question, but easily answered. For no field of activity requires more assurance and confidence than does salesmanship.

Unless a salesman is sure of himself, then he creates a vague "aura" of uncertainty. That soon affects the prospect, who indirectly grows doubtful of the merchandise and thus doesn't buy.

So let a glib talking phrenologist stand up before salesmen and assure them POSITIVELY that he is giving them a surefire, 100 per cent effective plan to diagnose personality, and he can give the sales crew new assurance.

Thus, they will go forth with supreme confidence, even though their system of character analysis is unsound.

And the resulting confidence will actually zoom sales! That is one of the interesting things about psychology, for some of the most effective personalities get results on the basis of their own dynamic personality rather than because of their merchandise or medicine.

Quack Cures When I attended Northwestern University Medical School, a famous medical specialist stated his address to our big class with these words:

"Gentlemen, always remember that 85 per cent of your patients will get well IN SPITE OF what you do for them!"

He didn't mean that all those 85 per cent suffered solely from imaginary ailments. But such non-fatal maladies as flu, etc., will correct themselves in a few days.

Any patent medicine vendor, faith healer or bona fide M.D., will thus get credit for those 85 per cent cures if he happens to be the last one to treat the patients prior to recovery.

Actually, a quack with a lot of assurance and a dynamic personality, can probably cure more of those 85 per cent than a timid scientific M.D., who does not irradiate assurance.

It's the 15 per cent, however, who do not get well without scientific medical skill, that give the physicians the advantage.

Contagious Enthusiasm Clergymen, teachers, and doctors, as well as insurance vendors, are all salesmen and should bubble over with enthusiasm, for the prospects catch some of this confidence by proximity.

Many beginning salesmen, however, are rather shy. They get stagefright at the thought of ringing a strange doorbell, so they may walk around the block a couple of times or even resort to a snort of whiskey or two cups of black coffee to bolster their nerve.

These timid salesmen, if reassured even by an unscientific system like phrenology, thereafter exude more positiveness. And that very confidence pays off in greater sales.

Real salesmanship, however, is a topnotch profession, so if you want the true scientific facts about it, send for my bulletin "The New Psychology of Advertising and Selling," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus a dime.

Salesmen are sparkplugs of civilization, so they should be undergirded with true scientific facts instead of bogus systems of character analysis.

Flexibility And The Free Market

One of the many outstanding virtues of the free market is its flexibility. It responds swiftly and accurately to the pressures of the natural economic law of supply and demand.

An excellent example of this is found in some information issued by the American Meat Institute. A short time ago hog marketings were extremely heavy—as much as 25 per cent greater than in the comparable period a year before. This was reflected strongly in the prices paid by both wholesalers and ultimate consumers. Retail prices were 18 to 39 per cent under the level of a year earlier.

Now, as happens every year at this time, marketings are gradually tapering off. The next seasonal rise should occur in August and September, when the spring pig crop is marketed. Again we may confidently expect prices to reflect the situation as it changes.

Other meats have also been in abundant supply, and at very reasonable prices. On a recent date, the wholesale meat price index was 81 per cent of the 1947-49 base period average—its lowest point since price controls were ended in 1946. And it must be remembered that when the price controls were in effect, imposing artificially low prices, producers were forced to retrench, there were serious meat shortages, and about the only beneficiaries were black market operators.

All Cartels Are Bad

A staff group working for a body called the Economic Commission for Europe has produced a paper attacking the American oil companies which are operating in the Middle East. All kinds of charges are made concerning prices and profits and other important matters. The solution proposed is the establishment of government cartels.

One of the American Oil companies* which pioneered Middle East development has refuted, with actual facts, these claims. In addition it observes: "When one considers the recent accomplishment of these companies which, at the request of their respective governments, reached an agreement with Iran that thwarted a possible communist coup, and when one considers also the contributions these companies make to the economic and military strength of the free world, one is perhaps justified in questioning either the motives or the wisdom of the paper's authors." On the question of cartels, it says: "A government cartel is no better, and may indeed be worse, than a private cartel. We are opposed to both. Our long business experience, both at home and abroad, convinces us that, given equal opportunity, a competitive business can do better for consumers than a cartelized business any time."

This is an accurate reflection of the attitude of the American oil industry—including both the companies which have overseas interests and those which confine their operations to this country. And it is the attitude which has brought almost unbelievable progress in oil development, here and abroad alike.

THESE DAYS The Resurrection

In ancient lore, it is said that King Solomon wore a ring upon which was engraved certain Hebrew letters. When asked what they meant, this wisest of men translated them into the phrase, "These too shall pass away."

And who shall say on Easter day that so optimistic an idea can be untrue? For Easter is a tale of 1922 years ago and it is still being celebrated, not so much as the story of a death as it is the saga of life, of life eternal, of the rhythmic resurrection of all that lives in this world.

In this age of science, we are beginning to grasp what the theologians always knew, namely, that there is no death. Nothing totally disappears. There may be change; there may be an alteration of form or even of substance, but in the economy of nature nothing is lost. There is no destruction without a fall-out, which returns to the earth which left the earth. This the men of God always knew—"I am the Resurrection!"

Maimonides, the 750th anniversary of whose death is to be celebrated this year, in his "The Guide for the Perplexed," wrote: "... Even the existence of this corporeal element, low as it in reality is, because it is the source of death and all evils, is likewise good for the permanence of the Universe and the continuation of the order of things, so that one thing departs and the other succeeds. Rabbi Meir therefore explains the words 'and behold it is very good' that even death was good."

St. Augustine speaks the same thought but more emotionally: "O what said he, I will lay me down and sleep, for who shall hinder us, when cometh to pass that saying which is written, Death is swallowed up in victory? And Thou surpassingly art the Self-same, Who are not changed; and in Thee is rest which forgetteth all toil, for there is none other with Thee, nor are we to seek those many other things, which are not what Thou art; but Thou, Lord, alone hast made me dwell in hope."

This noble uplifting of the human spirit is inherent in the idea of the resurrection, in the gamut of tense activity in all of nature when that which during the winter months looked drab and brown and barren, suddenly again comes to life in a fierce struggle over the chilling, freezing death which we thought was upon us. As the sun grows warmer and the grass green again and the buds break out upon the trees, we know that there is no death. We see that there is always life.

Those who live in fear cannot know the glory of the eternal life. For what is there to fear? The same philosopher, Moses Maimonides, as he is called, ended this sage work, "The Guide for the Perplexed," which had such a vast influence on Thomas Aquinas, with this ultimate paragraph: "God is near to all who call Him, if they call Him in truth, and turn to Him. He is found by every one who seeks Him, if he always goes towards Him, and never goes astray."

And this is the reminder of Easter. The world is dark; the clouds are black; the clamor of fierce noises are upon the earth. Men speak of war and look upon their sons in disappointment. But Easter comes and the sun shines. It is spring and the flowers soon will bloom. He who died has been resurrected and all that dies will be resurrected. And so, we cast our cares aside and put on our Easter bonnets and go among our neighbors with cheer and song.

Nothing ever dies. Life is everlasting and eternal. That is God's way. Were it not so, there could be no hope, no love, no life. Were it not so, populations would not increase, for why should the hopeless beget others who can only be hopeless. The lie is given to the materialist, who sees nothing in life but dust to dust, by the constancy of the increase of human life. We multiply because life is good and those who really live do not fear death, for in their progeny they recognize the eternity of life. Nothing real stops because some make wars and not even the hydrogen bomb can frighten because it cannot really kill the spirit of those who trust God and are therefore not afraid.

Decline In Immigration Cuts Foreign-Born Ratio

WASHINGTON — If present immigration quotas for 85 other nations were abolished, and the total number of immigrants allowed to enter the U. S. each year were raised from 154,000 to 251,000, would the "homogeneity" of the U. S. population be disturbed?

"Yes," say those who oppose a bill, sponsored by New York's Sen. Herbert H. Lehman and Rep. Emanuel Celler, which would make such a change in the Immigration and Nationality Act of 1952. And according to an analysis by Congressional Quarterly, these opponents probably will stymie the bill during the present session.

While it is difficult to predict ethnic changes which might take place in the future, some interesting clues from the recent past seem to indicate that U. S. "homogeneity" is reasonably assured, barring a much greater increase in immigration than any now proposed.

Some 40 million immigrants have entered the U. S. since 1820 — 34 million from Europe, five million from the Western Hemisphere and one million from Asia. During the same period, however, total population has jumped from 10 to 163 million.

Immigration mounted from 1820 on, until it reached its peak in the decade from 1906 to 1915, when some 9.4 million immigrants, or almost a million a year, entered the country. With the first quota law of 1921 the influx began to fall off, and in the 10 years from 1941 to 1950 barely 1 million were admitted.

Even these figures, however, are slightly deceptive. Many immigrants arrived in the U. S. only to decide later that they wished to return to the old country. In the 40 years between 1911 and 1950, some 3.8 million aliens emigrated from the U. S., leaving net immigration for the period of 7.6 million. During the early 1930's, when the country was in the throes of a depression, emigrants actually outnumbered immigrants by 100,000.

The fall-off in net immigration, coupled with the rapid increase in total U. S. population, has markedly affected the ratio of foreign-born in the country. In 1900, the total population was 76 million, of which 10.3 million or 13.6 per cent was foreign-born. When the last census was taken in 1950, the total had climbed to 150 million, but the number of foreign-born was the same as 50 years earlier—10.3 million. This number now constituted only 6.8 per cent. Deaths helped to achieve this apparent stability, despite the influx of some 15 million new immigrants during the same period.

Similarly, both the number and the ratio of Americans one or both of whose parents were born in another country have been declining. Census statistics (for the white population only) show that native white persons of foreign or mixed parentage numbered 25.9 million in 1930 or 21.1 per cent of the total population. Their number had dropped to 23.6 million in 1950 and their ratio to 15.7 per cent.

When lumped together in what the Bureau of the Census calls the "foreign white stock," the foreign-born and natives of foreign or mixed parentage numbered 33.9 million in 1950 or 22.4 per cent of the total population. Of this group, the largest number (6.8 million) were located in New York state where they constituted 45.9 per cent of the state's population.

Percentage-wise, however, New York trails three New England states. Foreign white stock makes up 48.9 per cent of Rhode Island's population, 48.5 per cent of Massachusetts' and 48 per cent of Connecticut's. At the other end of the scale are North and South Carolina, where the foreign white stock is only 1.1 per cent.

In Louisiana, where the 1950 census showed a total population of 2,683,516, there were 28,834 foreign-born white and 87,240 native white of foreign or mixed parentage. Together, they made up 4.3 per cent of the state's total population. The national origins of the foreign white stock have shifted to some extent with the ebb and flow of immigration over the years. Most immigrants from Germany, Ireland, Great Britain and Sweden arrived before 1900, while most of those from Italy, Austria-Hungary, Russia, Canada and Mexico came in after 1900.

Easter

Easter is the joyful morning when the sun dances in the heavens because life is reborn. The stone has been rolled away from the silent dark and that which was thought to be dead, forever lost to sight and sound has risen to life again and all Creation sings, "He is risen."

This renewal of life is spiritual and actual. All creation feels it. The sun shines with strengthened light; the buds swell; the flowers bloom in the softened air. The songs of returning birds send a wave of warmth and hope to hearts grown cold beneath the gloom and chill of winter. Heads long bowed in sadness lift with new gladness. Eyes shadowed in fear flow with renewed courage. Backs bent under the weight of the cross straighten triumphantly as the burden rolls away. "He is risen."

In this lies the meaning of Easter. The story of the cross dramatizes it. Nature tells it in the progress of the seasons, in her way with earth, sea and sky. We live it every day. The steady round of toil, endurance, overcoming and rejoicing, tell it over and over again to every living soul.

Each must bear his own cross. Each of us sees a part of him die as a cherished dream fades, a hope is denied, a trust betrayed. It is so that we know death and by faith rise again to the knowledge that life will be renewed in us that we may rise to a better, nobler spirit.

Without the hope and promise of Easter, the belief in the resurrection, we could not go on. The faith of Easter is the knowledge that in time the stone that burdens our spirit will be rolled away and the life that seemed hopelessly ended will be renewed in better spirit and heightened power. It is that faith that gives meaning to life's trials.

But there must be that faith. There must be firm belief. Faith, the substance of things not seen, the evidence of things hoped for, is inherent in the Easter message. Belief in one's self; belief in other people; belief in the wisdom and goodness of God is what restores the spirit and brings it to triumphant life once more.

There is no reality in death. Its power is temporary. Life is eternal, forever renewed, forever triumphant.

"He is risen."

was Germany, with 4.7 million, followed closely by Italy, with 4.6 million. Other major countries of origin were Canada (3 million), Poland (2.8 million), Russia (2.5 million), and Ireland (2.4 million).

In fiscal 1954, the first full year after the Immigration and Nationality Act of 1952 took effect, 208,000 immigrants were admitted to the U. S., but only 94,000 under quotas. Mexico led with 37,000, followed by Germany (33,000), Canada (27,000), Great Britain (19,000) and Italy (15,000). Their ethnic impact must be judged in terms of a U. S. population that is growing by 2.5 million a year.

IN WASHINGTON Big Four Conference

The expectation of leading government figures that a Big Four conference will be held sometime this year, or early in 1956, is being subjected to criticism on the ground that as usual, the United States is too eager to make concessions in order to obtain what it seeks.

Our objectives are extremely broad, and our hope for a long period of peace as a result of a conference between ourselves, Britain, France and Russia could lead to agreements which would be as likely to result eventually in war as in peace.

Such a conference if seemingly successful in launching a world disarmament program could mean that President Eisenhower would not be a candidate for renomination, as he has intimated that improved world conditions could be the persuading factor in his decision.

The principle critics of any "Big Four" conference are bound to be those senators of the president's own party who are firmly convinced that the Soviets cannot be trusted to observe any agreements they might make, particularly since they now have Red China as an ally, and that the Chinese Communists want to expand in Asia, which the U. S., Britain and France would be bound to oppose.

The sour taste left by the Yalta pacts, among members of both political parties, has left many members of Congress who are normally interested in improving our foreign relations quite cool to the Big Four conference idea. They doubt that much of benefit could be derived from such a meeting at this time. Soviet Russia is good at handling conferences, as those since World War II have indicated. While Joe Stalin won't be around this time, there is no individual among the other foreign ministers who gives much indication of being able to cope with Vyacheslav Molotov, who prompted Stalin at every turn at the Yalta conference.

Henceforth there will be no international conference so far as the United States is concerned of which the results are not approved by the United States senate. Even Democrats have said recently that Franklin D. Roosevelt was "taken" at Yalta where two chiefs of state of free nations met more than match in a dictator who had to account to no one.

It is considered likely here that the next conference if one is held will be at the foreign ministers level, rather than of chiefs of state. That would bring Molotov in touch with John Foster Dulles, Anthony Eden and whomever happens to be foreign minister of France at the moment. It would probably start off with a demand from Molotov that Red China be included at least as a spectator, which Britain and France would be almost obligated to approve, leaving the U. S. holding the bag from the very beginning.

This country would have a fairly sharp group of diplomatic advisors at this meeting, better than the Yalta gathering, the records of which make our representatives look pretty amateurish. What the American "statesmen" have to learn is that the United States wants concessions too, and must not be expected to continue indefinitely in the giveaway role.

What surprises some senators here is that the United States has never succeeded — or perhaps never seriously attempted — to bring Latin America into conference rooms as an ally. One of the reasons of course, is the attitude of Argentina, which has been anti-U. S. for most of the last quarter century. Another is that so many of the Central and South American nations are small and thus have been ignored by the major powers of Europe. The result is that Latin American countries with the exception of Mexico have been treated with colonial indifference by the United States, and have resented it.

Now the Eisenhower administration, as did the Roosevelt-Hull team are trying to make up for a long period in which we have been unpopular among most of our southern neighbors.

The United Nations has helped improve this situation to some extent. But until Latin America can be persuaded that the United States is its best friend, thus uniting the western hemisphere, the Communists will be exerting every effort to win those nations over to their side.

Worry Clinic

By Dr. George W. Crane

Pete's shrewd question brings out an odd fact about salesmanship. Greater confidence, even though based on unsound doctrines, may actually raise a salesman's batting averages temporarily. But true salesmanship must be founded on scientific techniques for longtime success.

Case N-396: Pete W., aged 41, is a very successful Sales Manager for a famous American company.

"Dr. Crane, I notice you say that phrenologists and physiologists are not regarded as scientific," he began.

"Well, I am doubly interested, for last year I put my O. K. on bringing a phrenologist to address our salesmen. He conducted a 6-weeks' course and each man paid $50 tuition.

"As a result of that course, moreover, our sales output increased very definitely.

"So how could this phrenologist be unscientific and yet pep up our salesmen?"

Confidence

That's a fair question, but easily answered. For no field of activity requires more assurance and confidence than does salesmanship.

Unless a salesman is sure of himself, then he creates a vague "aura" of uncertainty. That soon affects the prospect, who indirectly grows doubtful of the merchandise and thus doesn't buy.

So let a glib talking phrenologist stand up before salesmen and assure them POSITIVELY that he is giving them a surefire, 100 per cent effective plan to diagnose personality, and he can give the sales crew new assurance.

Thus, they will go forth with supreme confidence, even though their system of character analysis is unsound.

And the resulting confidence will actually cause sales! That is one of the interesting things about psychology, for some of the most effective personalities get results on the basis of their own dynamic personality rather than because of their merchandise or medicine.

Quack Cures

When I attended Northwestern University Medical School, a famous medical specialist started his address to our big class with these words:

"Gentlemen, always remember that 85 per cent of your patients will get well IN SPITE OF what you do for them!"

He didn't mean that all those 85 per cent suffered solely from imaginary ailments. But such nonfatal maladies as flu, etc., will correct themselves in a few days.

Any patent medicine vendor, faith healer or bona fide M.D. will thus get credit for those 85 per cent of cures, if he happens to be the last one to treat the patients prior to recovery.

Actually, a quack with a lot of assurance and a dynamic personality, can probably cure more of those 85 per cent than a timid scientific M.D., who does not irradiate assurance.

It's the 15 per cent, however, who do not get well without scientific medical skill, that give the physicians the advantage.

Contagious Enthusiasm

Clergymen, teachers, and doctors, as well as insurance vendors, and all salesmen and should bubble over with enthusiasm, for the prospects catch some of this confidence by proximity.

Many beginning salesmen, however, are rather shy. They get stagefright at the thought of ringing a strange doorbell, so they may walk around the block a couple of times or even resort to a snort of whiskey or two cups of back coffee to bolster their nerve.

These timid salesmen, if reassured even by an unscientific system like phrenology, thereafter exude more positiveness. And that very confidence pays off in greater sales.

Real salesmanship, however, is a toponot profession, so if you want the true scientific facts about it, send for my bulletin "The New Psychology of Advertising and Selling," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus a dime.

Salesmen are sparkplugs of civilization, so they should be undergirded with true scientific facts instead of bogus systems of character analysis.

Circuit Court In Jackson Sustains Love Comics' Ban

JACKSON, Miss., April 8 (AP)—A circuit court judge today upheld Jackson's ordinance banning literature that makes sex and crime too attractive.

Judge Homer Currie of Smith County, sitting in for Judges Leon Hendrick and M. M. McGowan of Hinds County, ruled the ordinance did not violate the state or United States constitutions.

Today's test case stemmed from a petition by Mrs. T. W. Hughes and Mrs. Helen Gates appealing a city court fine for violations of the ordinance.

The ordinance was adopted last December after a parent-teacher group objected to sale of what they called "lurid literature." The city commission adopted the ordinance immediately.

Police, given the job of deciding what constituted violations, arrested Mrs. Hughes and Mrs. Gates and they were fined $50 each. The women filed for a writ of prohibition against enforcement of the ordinance. Judge Currie overruled the petition and authorized 30 days for an appeal to the State Supreme Court.

Neither Mrs. Hughes nor Mrs. Gates indicated she would file such an appeal.

More than 500 teachers trained at Clarke School for the Deaf, Northampton, Mass., serve the hard-of-hearing throughout the United States and in 20 foreign countries, says the National Geographic Society.

DOROTHY DIX

Back To The Farm?

City-Dwelling Girl Debates
Marrying Prosperous Farmer

By DOROTHY DIX

DEAR MISS DIX: I was brought up on a farm but since I came to the city to work I greatly prefer urban life. I am much happier away from cows and chickens. My fiancé, however, is a farm-bred boy who loves the country. He majored in agriculture at school and has tremendous enthusiasm for that work. His parents own a fine farm, thoroughly modern in every respect, located some twenty miles from a good-sized town and in an ideally scenic location.

Brad, my fiancé, absolutely refuses to consider any other sort of life, and I don't blame him. He wants to marry this spring (he is 24, I am 23), but I think it best for us to postpone marriage for another year. This will give us a chance to become better acquainted and for me to make up my mind whether or not I could go back to farm life. We've known each other three years but have only dated six months.

Am I being foolishly stubborn or do you think I'm right in my belief that I could never again be happy on a farm?

Helene T.

THIS FARM SOUNDS PERFECT

ANSWER: In your long letter, here abridged, you paint such an irresistibly glowing picture of life on this ideal farm, where you would even have your own house, that it's difficult to understand your hesitation. When a farm comes complete with all city conveniences, plus proximity to a large town where shopping and amusement facilities are of the best, to be topped off with the security and independence of rural life, most folks would be tempted to grab the opportunity.

If all these advantages fail to impress you, it certainly seems that you are born for the city and it would be folly to transplant yourself. You would probably make the change with resentful reluctance. All day you would be thinking of your friends in their offices and apartment houses, lunching at your favorite restaurants, shopping at your pet stores. Unhappiness under these circumstances would be inevitable.

If you decide to marry Brad, you must do so with the earnest determination to adopt the life he must live and do your best to like it. You will doubtless be stealing a march on your friends since the back-to-the-farm movement is gaining momentum every day. The chief pastime of many city dwellers is reading "farms for sale" ads, and the highways are well traveled on week ends by pavement pounders who long for a piece of land all their own.

Perhaps it's possible that you aren't too sure of your love for Brad. This is the first question you must settle for yourself. If your love is complete, I'm sure you'll find that your place of domicile isn't so vitally important.

DEAR MISS DIX: While traveling by plane recently, I met a very nice boy. Since it was a first flight for both of us, we had fun sharing the experience. I am 18 and I think he was a bit older. I'd like to get in touch with him but don't know his name. Have you any suggestions?

Bettina

ANSWER: I guess you'll just have to put him in your memory book as a pleasant but fleeting experience. Locating someone whose name you don't even know is quite a hopeless task. However, there'll be other plane rides, and other nice young men.

DEAR MISS DIX: Stewart and I have known each other for eight years (I am 19; he is 22). Our friendship was chiefly an on-and-off-again affair, with intermittent steady dating. We both went on dates with other people. However, since he went into the navy six months ago I realize he's the only one for me. Then last week when he was home he told me of another girl he's been seeing. I was heartbroken and feel I have wasted the last four years on him. Do you think I could get him back?

Faye

ANSWER: How do you figure you've wasted any time on Stewart? You went out with other boys, even though, on occasion, you had promised to be true to him. You didn't really want the lad until you knew someone else was seriously interested in him. Better face the fact that this romance is over.

Reserve Officers Warned Against Commission Loss

In an open letter addressed this week to the Reserve Officers Association of Louisiana, Col. Samuel S. Graham, chief of the Louisiana Military District, points out that many reserve officers are losing their commissions because they are failing to meet the minimum training requirement.

Army regulations provide for an indefinite appointment in the U. S. Army Reserves to qualified individuals. "But the regulations," states Colonel Graham, "also provide that in order to hold this appointment in the active reserve, officers must earn at least one training credit per month each year. This is over and above the 15 credits granted for active membership in the Reserve."

It was suggested that many reserve officers may not realize the full significance of these regulations. "We wish to solicit your aid in a program to inform all reserve officers in Louisiana of this danger of losing their commissions," writes the LMD chief.

Training credits needed may be earned in a number of ways, it was explained. These include active participation in regular drills of organized reserve units, attendance at reserve schools, Army extension courses, annual tours of active duty training, and various other duties.

Reserve officers in this area are urged to contact Major George L. Whitmeyer, Building T-39-2, Selman Field, Monroe, Louisiana. Telephone number 9960 in connection with any questions that may arise in their minds as to the Reserve program.

Deer antlers are made of solid bone and are shed once each year, while horns have only a bony core surrounded by a horny sheath and are a permanent fixture, never shed except in the case of the prong-horned antelope.

Circuit Court In Jackson Sustains Love Comics' Ban

JACKSON, Miss., April 8 (AP)—A circuit court judge today upheld Jackson's ordinance banning literature that makes sex and crime too attractive.

Judge Homer Currie of Smith County, sitting in for Judges Leon Hendrick and M. M. McGowan of Hinds County, ruled the ordinance did not violate the state or United States constitutions.

Today's test case stemmed from a petition by Mrs. T. W. Hughes and Mrs. Helen Gates appealing a city court fine for violations of the ordinance.

The ordinance was adopted last December after a parent-teacher group objected to sale of what they called "lurid literature." The city commission adopted the ordinance immediately.

Police, given the job of deciding what constituted violations, arrested Mrs. Hughes and Mrs. Gates and they were fined $50 each.

The women filed for a writ of prohibition against enforcement of the ordinance. Judge Currie overruled the petition and authorized 30 days for an appeal to the State Supreme Court.

Neither Mrs. Hughes nor Mrs. Gates indicated she would file such an appeal.

More than 500 teachers trained at Clarke School for the Deaf, Northampton, Mass., serve the hard - of - hearing throughout the United States and in 20 foreign countries, says the National Geographic Society.

DOROTHY DIX

Back To The Farm?

City-Dwelling Girl Debates Marrying Prosperous Farmer

By DOROTHY DIX

DEAR MISS DIX: I was brought up on a farm but since I came to the city to work I greatly prefer urban life. I am much happier away from cows and chickens. My fiancé, however, is a farm-bred boy who loves the country. He majored in agriculture at school and has tremendous enthusiasm for that work. His parents own a fine farm, thoroughly modern in every respect, located some twenty miles from a good-sized town and in an ideally scenic location.

Brad, my fiancé, absolutely refuses to consider any other sort of life, and I don't blame him. He wants to marry this spring (he is 24, I am 23), but I think it best for us to postpone marriage for another year. This will give us a chance to become better acquainted and for me to make up my mind whether or not I could go back to farm life. We've known each other three years but have only dated six months.

Am I being foolishly stubborn or do you think I'm right in my belief that I could never again be happy on a farm?

Helene T.

THIS FARM SOUNDS PERFECT

ANSWER: In your long letter, here abridged, you paint such an irresistibly glowing picture of life on this ideal farm, where you would even have your own house, that it's difficult to understand your hesitation. When a farm comes complete with all city conveniences, plus proximity to a large town where shopping and amusement facilities are of the best, to be topped off with the security and independence of rural life, most folks would be tempted to grab the opportunity.

If all these advantages fail to impress you, it certainly seems that you are born for the city and it would be folly to transplant yourself. You would probably make the change with resentful reluctance. All day you would be thinking of your friends in their offices and apartment houses, lunching at your favorite restaurants, shopping at your pet stores. Unhappiness under these circumstances would be inevitable.

If you decide to marry Brad, you must do so with the earnest determination to adopt the life he must live and do your best to like it. You will doubtless be stealing a march on your friends since the back-to-the-farm movement is gaining momentum every day. The chief pastime of many city dwellers is reading "farms for sale" ads, and the highways are well traveled on week ends by pavement pounders who long for a piece of land all their own.

Perhaps it's possible that you aren't too sure of your love for Brad. This is the first question you must settle for yourself. If your love is complete, I'm sure you'll find that your place of domicile isn't so vitally important.

DEAR MISS DIX: While traveling by plane recently, I met a very nice boy. Since it was a first flight for both of us, we had fun sharing the experience. I am 18 and I think he was a bit older. I'd like to get in touch with him but don't know his name. Have you any suggestions?

Bettina

ANSWER: I guess you'll just have to put him in your memory book as a pleasant but fleeting experience. Locating someone whose name you don't even know is quite a hopeless task. However, there'll be other plane rides, and other nice young men.

DEAR MISS DIX: Stewart and I have known each other for eight years (I am 19; he is 22). Our friendship was chiefly an on-and-off-again affair, with intermittent steady dating. We both went on dates with other people. However, since he went into the navy six months ago I realize he's the only one for me. Then last week when he was home he told me of another girl he's been seeing. I was heartbroken and feel I have wasted the last four years on him. Do you think I could get him back?

Faye

ANSWER: How do you figure you've wasted any time on Stewart? You went out with other boys, even though, on occasion, you had promised to be true to him. You didn't really want the lad until you knew someone else was seriously interested in him. Better face the fact that this romance is over.

Reserve Officers Warned Against Commission Loss

In an open letter addressed this week to the Reserve Officers Association of Louisiana, Col. Samuel S. Graham, chief of the Louisiana Military District, points out that many reserve officers are losing their commissions because they are failing to meet the minimum training requirement.

Army regulations provide for an indefinite appointment in the U. S. Army Reserves to qualified individuals. "But the regulations," states Colonel Graham, "also provide that in order to hold this appointment in the active reserve, officers must earn at least one training credit per month each year. This is over and above the 15 credits granted for active membership in the Reserve."

It was suggested that many reserve officers may not realize the full significance of these regulations. "We wish to solicit your aid in a program to inform all reserve officers in Louisiana of this danger of losing their commissions," writes the LMD chief.

Training credits needed may be earned in a number of ways, it was explained. These include active participation in regular drills of organized reserve units, attendance at reserve schools, Army extension courses, annual tours of active duty training, and various other duties.

Reserve officers in this area are urged to contact Major George L. Whitmeyer, Building T-39-2, Selman Field, Monroe, Louisiana. Telephone number 9960 in connection with any questions that may arise in their minds as to the Reserve program.

Crossword Contest Still Unsolved; Purse Jumps To $150 For Next Week

By BONANZA BILL

Such words as butter, cutter, bill and Sweden blocked the path of many contestants in reaching a correct solution to The Morning World's crossword puzzle number five, while others floundered on some of the other sticklers, leaving the $125 jackpot untouched.

Old Bonanza Bill counted up the stacks of entries, and there were 13,290, considerably more than the 12,000 for the previous week, but probably less than will be received on the next puzzle coming up which will carry a jackpot of $150.

As one of our friends commented the other day, "Spring is really here, and Old Bonanza Bill's raising a cabbage patch in the circulation department's safe." But, remember, we'll be glad to harvest it and send it to the first contestant who can produce all of the right answers to one of our puzzles.

Most of the contestants were eliminated when they failed to get the three key words. On number five in the clues across, the correct answer was BUTTER, but most of the contestants said it was cutter or butter. On number nine across, the answer was WILL, but most readers thought that it was bill.

Then on 17 across, where the word should have been SWEDEN, all but about 25 of the contestants marked it down as Sweden.

Puzzle number six will be carried in the Monday and Tuesday editions of The Morning World, and all answers must be on puzzle clipped and pasted to a twenty-cent postcard. Other rules, in addition to clues, will be carried with the puzzle.

For those who are wondering what they missed on the puzzle this week, here is an explanation of the more difficult clues:

CLUES ACROSS:

3. SIGN is best. She is almost certain to SIGH either in sorrow or in relief at getting some sort of contract. "Might SIGN" indicates uncertainty. She probably would feel she must SIGN but pride in her past fame or the realization that she is a "has been" might make her hesitate at the less favorable terms so she might not SIGN.

5. PUTTER is preferred. The weight of BUTTER you buy may well be a standard habitual purchase, hardly meriting "consideration." When buying a PUTTER you CONSIDER the weight among other factors.

8. When you are AWARE of something, you are surely "fully conscious" of it. When first you wake up, you are AWAKE - as opposed to "asleep" - but not necessarily fully conscious.

9. WILL is best. A wrong figure in a BILL does not ordinarily lead to "much dispute" for usually it can generally be more easily corrected than a mistake in a WILL. It is mistakes in WILLS which invariably create disputes.

10. Company might be "welcome" when there IS NONE. On a LONG journey there is none. On a LONG journey you may HAVE company anyway. The clue does not say you haven't.

12. A BOLD man is apt to distinguish himself by his acts, and therefore make himself conspicuous. BALDNESS will not necessarily make a man "conspicuous," since he may well be wearing a hat and his companions may also be BALD.

13. OUT is preferred. When a man's deliberately CUT, it may, in certain circumstances, be necessary for him to make a fuss about it. When a man is OUT, that is a simple unalterable fact about which there's little point in fussing.

17. SWEDEN comes from Scandinavia and are associated with it. SWEDEN IS PART of Scandinavia, and this is more than a mere association.

25. A woman gets a lot of pleasure out of a CHAT - perhaps more than some men can understand. Just "a COAT" is not self-sufficient as an answer - it merely keeps her warm. It is a NEW COAT or a "SMART" COAT that gives her "PLEASURE".

26. The clue implies that you ex-

Holiday Delays Report Of Parish Grand Jury Here

The Ouachita parish grand jury, hampered yesterday by a legal holiday, failed to make an open court report of its spring findings.

In session since Monday, the grand jury, required by law to make a report of its investigations before open court, could not do so because of the observance of Good Friday by the fourth district court.

T. A. Calloway, foreman from ward 4, stated that the report may be given Monday.

Lunch by the 12-man group was taken at the Louisiana Training Institute followed by an inspection of the school. Reports of this inspection, along with those of the Charity hospital and parish jail, will also be disclosed in open court.

pect or want it to be returned, favoring LEND. In cards there are many cases in which you will definitely not expect or hope for a return of your LEAD.

CLUES DOWN:

1. CURIOS is better. The asking of questions is very apt to the idea of satisfying your CURIOSITY. You may well be FURIOUS with YOURSELF, in which case it is unlikely that you would want to ask questions.

2. NEW is better. Although FEW WILL become stars, there is no reason why MANY of them should not HOPE to do so. The clue is indisputably true of NEW.

3. You have probably visited, or been in, a hospital, and know what sort of SPELL you find there. It is debatable whether enough people have experienced a PERIOD in hospital to justify SPELL, for which, in any case, the clue-wording is a little strained. It should be "what a SPELL in hospital is like," not "what a SPELL is like in a hospital".

4. GRIN is best. It will please mother to see baby GRIN for then she knows baby is happy. It will not always be good to have baby GAIN since it is possible baby may already be fatter than should be which would well worry mother.

6. In a TALK - which implies some sort of instructional aim - it is certainly far better to be brief and not digress. Many a classic TALK is long and rambling; "Alice in Wonderland" for instance, is hardly "short and to the point".

16. A man might well be annoyed if you FAILED him. Not so for FOILED, however, for commonly in a game you FOIL your opponent in various ways and this is part of the game.

18. The steps taken to help or educate a DUNCE are certainly important. The steps of a DANCE are usually standard, and they ARE the DANCE - not something "very important in the case of" a DANCE.

19. The singling out of an actress points to FAT, since FATNESS may well be a bigger calamity to her than to, say, an ordinary housewife. Also, it is really CHOOSING a HAT, rather than just "getting" (which might merely mean receiving) it that may give her a lot to think about.

20. GATE is best particularly because the more natural phrase would be to "make" a DATE, not "fix" a DATE.

FOUR-HERS GET TIPS ON USE OF ELECTRICITY—Remote control use of electricity on three and four switch systems on the farm, is explained to a group of Ouachita parish 4-H Club members by power company representative Tommy Robert. ## Alabama Solons End Session By Voting Tax Hike

MONTGOMERY, Ala., April 8 (AP)

—A special session of the Alabama Legislature adjourned today after administration leaders drove all five of Gov. James E. Folsom's old age pension tax bills through to final passage.

The sweeping victory gave the administration nearly two million dollars a year more than the total originally provided in the five bills and came in the wake of a Senate filibuster which for a time threatened to block their passage.

It was the second special session since Folsom took office Jan. 17. During the first meeting of the Legislature Folsom won a one cent increase in the state gasoline tax and the right to borrow 50 million dollars to finance road building.

In a surprising show of strength, the governor even won approval today of his once defeated tax increase on corporations.

Revenue from the new tax measures will go to support Folsom's program for increased old age pension benefits to needy men and women over 65.

As the tax package finally cleared both houses and went to the governor for his signature, it added up like this:

1. An increase on the corporation franchise tax from $2 to $2.50 on each $1,000 of capital stock.
2. A graduated new tax rate on insurance premiums with a ceiling of 3 per cent and an incentive tax credit for companies which invest more of their assets in Alabama.
3. A new 10 per cent tax on liquor and wine, bringing the total to 20 per cent.
4. An additional penny per can or bottle tax on beer.
5. Another penny per pack in the tax on cigarettes.

That's good advice... and the producers of natural gas have consistently put it into practice. Every year, they find more natural gas than we use. This favorable balance can be maintained only by a continuing program of exploration which requires expenditures in many cases of over a million dollars per well.

It's true that on a national average only one exploratory well out of nine brings anything but costly disappointment. Yet, producers make new locations and drill again and again, for...

...this is a search that must never end

Federal Court Trials To Open Here Monday

The spring term of the Monroe division of U. S. district court is scheduled to get underway here at 9:30 a.m. Monday in the post office building.

According to U. S. District Attorney T. Fitzhugh Wilson, several arraignments in various cases are scheduled to be held at 9:30 a.m., with most of those scheduled for arraignment recently indicted by a federal grand jury at Shreveport.

There will be no grand jury term in Monroe at this session, Wilson said.

The first week of the court term here will be devoted to trial of criminal cases, Wilson said, with seven cases listed. The next two weeks have been set aside for the civil cases, with seven scheduled for trial. However, pre-trial conferences and motions were being carried on Friday in court and some of these undoubtedly will be settled without necessity of trial.

The criminal case which perhaps will cause the most local interest at this term of court is the trial, set for next Thursday, of Harmon Azor Fisher.

Fisher was indicted by a federal grand jury for perjury as a result of testimony he gave in the first trial of a suit brought against the Missouri Pacific railroad in connection with an accident which killed six persons on the south side of town some years ago.

The first trial, in the fall of 1953, ended in a mistrial, but it was finally settled at the spring term of court last year, when Fisher was indicted.

On Tuesday of next week, the government will try Marcus E. McBride and Eugene W. Gates on charges of unlawfully taking and concealing government records.

The cases are in the Monroe division of court, but the alleged events did not take place in Monroe.

Other cases set for trial all involve alleged violations of the federal migratory game bird act. Those scheduled for trial and the times are:

Calvin Darris and M. E. Gross, 1:30 p.m. Monday; Vernon Hobbins, 2:30 p.m. Monday; W. D. Howze, A. W. Moore, and Ernest Moore, 9:30 a.m. Wednesday; Roy Middleton, 1:30 p.m. Wednesday; and T. Finkbeiner, 9:30 a.m. Friday.

Last Yank Vet 'Resting Well'

DULUTH, Minn., April 8—UP—Albert Woolson, last of the "boys in blue," rested comfortably in St. Luke's hospital Friday, fighting a successful battle against lung congestion.

Doctors said the 108-year-old lone survivor of the Union Army of the Civil War was in fairly good condition and that he had improved enough to sit up in bed.

Woolson was hospitalized early Thursday after spending a restless night. It was the second time within a month he was stricken with the lung congestion.

Sixty-five per cent of the buildings in Okinawa, scene of the last big battle of World War II, have been rebuilt.

CONVICTED OF SLAYING HUSBAND—Two unidentified police officers are shown catching Mrs. Mary Callahan, 30, Shawnee, Kan., housewife, who was convicted of first degree murder in the slaying of her husband. She had just heard the jury's verdict and recommendation of a life term in prison, and was leaving the courtroom when she fainted. Her husband, John Joseph Callahan, 31, was shot to death as he slept in the bedroom of their home last Jan. 2. A former boy friend of Mrs. Callahan, Ray Tipton, is also being held on a charge of first degree murder in connection with the slaying. (AP Wirephoto.)

L & N Railroad Strike

Rail Retirement Board Okays Out-Of-Work Pay For Operating Personnel

CHICAGO, April 8 (AP)—The labor member of the Railroad Retirement Board said today the board has decided to pay unemployment benefits to operating union members in the Louisville & Nashville Railroad strike if they refused to work because of "fear of injury based on reason and common sense."

Horace Harper, the labor member said he believed "more than 95 per cent" of the 4,000 or 5,000 operating union members involved would fall in this category. All the cases will be adjudicated regionally, he added.

Non-operating workers are on strike against the L&N. Members of operating unions — those employees who actually operate trains — have refused to cross picket lines. The striking members get unemployment benefits.

Harper said fear of injury could result from workers who fear trains are unsafe, or who fear injury in crossing picket lines.

"Many operating union members have declined to operate trains under what they consider unsafe conditions," Harper said.

"They have been unwilling to go out on trains which have not been properly inspected mechanically because of the strike of non-operating union men," he added.

"They also have been unwilling to take trains over tracks not properly maintained and inspected, or to take out trains without adequate telegraphic orders or proper signal protection."

Harper said instructions had gone out today for beginning of adjudication of claims. He said these will be handled regionally at Cleveland, Atlanta, Kansas City and Chicago.

Three Enter Not Guilty Pleas To Dynamiting Lines

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 8 (AP)—Pleas of innocent were entered today by three union men, including a local president, indicted on charges connected with the dynamiting of two telephone cables.

Charged with banding together for unlawful purposes were Arthur B. Chism Jr., president of local 3310, CIO Communication Workers of America; John D. McDermott Jr., a striking telephone worker, and Gus Henry Pack, an assistant signalman on strike against the Louisville & Nashville Railroad.

Here's why MORE PEOPLE ARE BUYING PONTIACS than ever before!

You don't have to look far to find the reason for the tremendous surge to Pontiac. No further than the fact that only Pontiac produces cars that compete with the costliest in size, smartness and power, yet carry a price tag well under many in the lowest-price field.

That's what brings people in to see and drive a Pontiac—a value story they can't afford to overlook. And once they get a close-up of America's most distinctive styling . . . once they sample the roominess and comfort of Pontiac's luxury interiors . . . once they try the thrills of Strato-Streak V-8 performance—they lose interest in every car but this.

Come in for the whole story. See, drive and price this future-fashioned beauty. You'll find that if you can afford any new car you can have a Pontiac.

Humpty Dumpty College Presents Easter Program

The playroom of Humpty Dumpty College was in its Easter finery Friday morning when the students had their parents as their guests for an Easter style review.

The Easter frocks modeled were so appealing each tiny tot could have been mistaken for an Easter confection. Large paper eggs were suspended from the ceiling while baskets and other hand work adorned the walls. A large papier mache bunny smiled his approval from one vantage point.

Dickie Touchstone welcomed the mothers, then each child modeled his, or her Easter costume. Randy Walton then announced the song the boys would sing and a springtime song sung by the girls was introduced by Marilyn Wood.

After the program refreshments of Easter confections were served, then the children went into the yard for an egg hunt.

Those enjoying the activities were, Dickey Touchstone, Steve Cahn, Frederick Fudickar, Jay Herron, Nancy Wood, Marilyn Wood, Martha Terzia, Barbee Uman, Randy Walton, Betsy Sandridge, Kathleen Riley, Billy Husted, Jenny Nichols, Rick Taylor, Sheron Marcovitz, Jay Dixon, Leslie Johnston, Jimmy Launderheimer, Glen Doncer, Henry Marks, Larry Hesdoffer, Ewing Brown.

OLLA —Miss Ineta Jernigan, bride-elect of Philip O. Bradford of Rhineheart, was entertained at a bridal shower in the home of Mrs. Nelda Allbritton in Olla. Hostesses in addition to Mrs. Allbritton were Miss Annie Ruth McDaniel and Miss Fannie Hayes.

Arrangements of spring flowers decorated the Allbritton home and centered the refreshment table which was overlaid in a white lace cloth.

The bride-elect chose for the occasion a dark printed silk trousseau model with a bolero and matching accessories. Guests invited to share the occasion with the honoree and hostesses were: Mrs. Jimmie Gregory; Mrs. Charles Gaines; Mrs. R. L. Brown; Mrs. Robert McCartney; Mrs. Ida Crick; Mrs. J. B. Rogers; Mrs. Fannie Hayes; Mrs. Nelda Allbritton; Miss Addie Harris; Mrs. Ann Talley; Mrs. Wilbur Nethery; Mrs. Sam David; Mrs. F. E. Brooks; Mrs. Ray Floyd; Miss Vera McBroom; Mrs. Anna Crick; Mrs. Florence Crick; Mrs. J. E. Harris; Mrs. Estelle Vickers; Mrs. U. V. Taylor; Mrs. Ida Finley; Mrs. Bud Parker.

Mrs. Lester Johnson Speaks To Caddoan Club Members

Mrs. Lester Johnson spoke to the Caddoan Club Monday night at Oak Ridge Community Hall. Mrs. Johnson, who is author of the book Sunspur and a journalism instructor at Northeast State College, used for her subject "Writing as an Art." As a child, Mrs. Johnson had attended the Oak Ridge school for a short time. Former school mates and her teacher, Mrs. W. H. Files, then Miss Mattie Bowden, were on hand to hear her.

During the brief business session, Mrs. W. P. Smith, president, named to assist her as pages for the Saturday morning session of the Louisiana Federation of Women's Clubs convention in Monroe. Mrs. James Poole, Mrs. W. M. Rolfe, and Mrs. H. A. Pipes, Jr.

Mrs. Jack Carey, parliamentarian, presented pointers on gaining the floor. Mrs. W. M. Nolan gave highlights on the district meeting held in Ruson at which time the Caddoan press book received a blue ribbon and the year book a red ribbon. Mrs. Norman McDuffie led the state presidents letter. Mrs. James Poole reported twenty dollars profit from the recent bake sale.

After the Freedom Pledge a social hour was enjoyed during which the hostesses, Mrs. S. L. Parks and Mrs. J. E. Files, served delicious refreshments to the following members: Mrs. Weldon Fitch, who was received as a new member, Mrs. W. P. Smith, Miss Betty Winnon, Mr. H. A. Pipes, Jr., Mrs. Jack Carey, Mrs. H. E. Stevenson, Mrs. John Day, Mrs. Mason McEnery, Mrs. J. G. Cabuk, Mrs. R. M. Kennedy, Mrs. W. A. Shaw, Mrs. G. L. Greene, Mrs. James Poole, and Mrs. W. M. Nolan. Guests were Mrs. Lester Johnson of Holly Ridge, Mrs. W. H. Files, Mrs. J. D. Baugh, and Mrs. Norman McDuffie, Fifth District Chairman of Youth Conservation.

Candy Ellis Celebrates With Easter Party

LAKE PROVIDENCE —Candy Ellis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Ellis, recently celebrated her sixth birthday with a most delightful party at the Methodist Fellowship hall.

Mrs. W. B. Cone, paternal aunt, was hostess in the absence of Mrs. Ellis.

Easter baskets were given as favors.

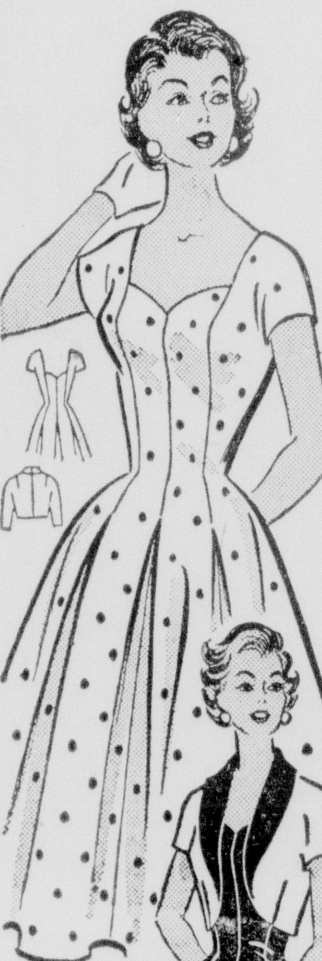

After an afternoon of most enjoyable games and contests, the 20 guests, members of Candy's Sunday school class, were served ice cream and cake.

Mrs. Felker Has Birthday

Mrs. J. T. Sharplin entertained at her home in Epps with a party honoring her mother, Mrs. Sadie Felker, on her seventy eighth birthday.

She was assisted by Leroy Simms and Mrs. Herbert Reeves in extending courtesies to the many friends who called during the afternoon.

Three Hostesses Honor Mrs. Stahl On Birthday

Mrs. H. S. Chilton's home on Layton Avenue was the scene of a coffee honoring Mrs. Annie Lee West Stahl, director of the journalism department at Northeast State College, on Wednesday in celebration of her birthday.

Hostesses entertaining with Mrs. Chilton were Miss Sara Hinton and Mrs. Sam Oden. The refreshment table overlaid in a cutwork linen cloth was centered with a picturesque arrangement of pink gladioli.

Placed at the end of the table was a beautiful cake which was a replica of the 1954 "Chacahoula" which Mrs. Stahl edits. She was also presented a corsage of roses.

Presiding at the tea service was Mrs. Sam Oden. Guests at the party were: Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rushing, Dean William M. Smith, Miss Lucille McLeod, Miss Mae Reed, Mrs. Evelyn Chilton, Mr. C. W. West, Mrs. Sam Oden, Miss Ann Griffith, Verda Haden, Martha Jane Oden, Sara Hinton, Pat Barnes, Sammy Danna, Richard Tyler, Bobby Joe Oden.

Baxter Bayou HD Club Meets

Baxter Bayou HD club met April 1 with the junior past president, Mrs. W. F. Bonner, with Mrs. Percy Ragland co-hostess.

Mrs. W. B. Ragland, Jr., vice president, conducted the business session, in which unanimous vote was given to request all ministers of the parish to use the theme "Today's home builds tomorrow's world," for the services of Sunday May 1. Members voted to hold coffee hours, inviting guests who are non-club members, as steps towards increasing the membership.

Mrs. Keener Howard and Mrs. W. R. Barry met for two months with 4-H Juniors to advise with the sewing project which had to be completed by Achievement Day. Donation of $3.00 was made to the cancer drive. At the Council meeting of April 29 local agents will present all phases of insurance, pointing out their advantages and coverages.

May 5 is Hobby Day and will be held at the Methodist Fellowship Hall. Volunteers for cake making, to be used in a decorating demonstration, will be donated by Mrs. Keener Howard and Mrs. C. R. Brown.

For the program Mrs. John Rolfe Howard informed on "Care of Furniture," as Miss Eunyce Howard, East Carroll Home Agent, gave the demonstration. Mrs. Keener Howard advised on "Nutrition Importance Of Bread." Mrs. Percy Ragland pointed out the "Natural process and cheese food differences." Mrs. William P. Rushing proved that "Younger generation obtains moral and spiritual values in the home."

Present were: Mesdames C. R. Brown, John Rolfe Howard, Keener Howard, R. K. Howard, W. B. Ragland, Jr., W. P. Rushing, A. F. Neal and H. T. Van Fossen, and Miss Eunyce Howard.

TSCW FESTIVAL BEAUTY—Miss Alice Coleman, freshman kindergarten-primary education major, was introduced as a princess of the Redbud Festival Court during the two-day spring program at Texas State College for Women in Denton. The honor went to Miss Coleman, on the basis of her personality, friendliness, democratic spirit and participation in campus activities. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Coleman, 301 Ouachita Ave.

Downsville Juniors Will Present Play

The Downsville High School Juniors will present their play, "Off The Track," on April 12, at 7:30 in the high school gymnasium.

This is a play with a different twist. The setting is the waiting room of a small wayside railroad station on a dark and stormy night. What a strange and conglomerate mix of people is thrown together when a fast train is derailed and the passengers come inside to wait for a relief train.

Those having roles in the play are: Margerite Averette, Joye Hinton, Jerry Hammons, Bill Terral.

Today's Women

When America's well-dressed women step out in the Easter parade, few, if any, will be wearing one-of-a-kind costumes, whether they paid $25 or $1,500 for them.

The recent embarrassment over the almost identical dresses of Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Mrs. Durrice Crane at a Washington tea points up the fact that in today's world of mass-produced fashions the First Lady is no more certain than Judy O'Grady that she won't meet herself walking down the street.

The dresses worn by Mrs. Eisenhower and Mrs. Crane were turned out by the New York wholesale firm of Parnis-Livingsstone, a husband-and-wife team. Mollie Parnis has designed most of the First Lady's clothes since her return to America. But neither Mrs. Eisenhower nor Miss Parnis makes any pretenses that the dresses are exclusive. Some 90 copies of the current dress were made, to retail at about $110. Usually at least 200 dresses are cut in each style shown by a wholesale dress firm. These are sold to various stores around the country, each usually ordering a full range of sizes in each style.

However, even if Mrs. Eisenhower had paid from $650 to $1,500 for a made-to-order dress, designed by one of the famous custom dressmakers of New York or Paris, she still would run the risk of meeting someone else wearing one like it.

The day of one-of-a-kind fashions, designed for and worn by one woman only, has been past for some time. Paris custom designers create a group of new fashions each season, and show the models to selected groups of private customers and commercial buyers. The commercial buyers usually pay a sizable fee for the privilege of seeing the collections, and then buy models to be copied by their own firms. Thus the $1,000 Paris suit soon is being turned out by American manufacturers in mass production to sell for $50 to $100.

Private customers who order from the collections have the garments made to order, and are assured of perfect fit, but not of exclusivity. For anyone who is invited to view a collection is privileged to order any style shown.

These are sold to various stores around the country, each usually ordering a full range of sizes in each style.

However, even if Mrs. Eisenhower had paid from $650 to $1,500 for a made-to-order dress, designed by one of the famous custom dressmakers of New York or Paris, she still would run the risk of meeting someone else wearing one like it.

The day of one-of-a-kind fashions, designed for and worn by one woman only, has been past for some time. Paris custom designers create a group of new fashions each season, and show the models to selected groups of private customers and commercial buyers. The commercial buyers usually pay a sizable fee for the privilege of seeing the collections, and then buy models to be copied by their own firms. Thus the $1,000 Paris suit soon is being turned out by American manufacturers in mass production to sell for $50 to $100. Private customers who order from the collections have the garments made to order, and are assured of perfect fit, but not of exclusivity. For anyone who is invited to view a collection is privileged to order any style shown.

Middlecoff Fires Sizzling 65 To Nab Masters Lead

Hogan Pulls Into 2nd Place; Burke, Snead Are Third

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
AUGUSTA, Ga., April 8 (AP)—Cary Middlecoff, the 1949 open golf champion who has tried vainly to take the measure of the Augusta National course, finally accomplished that feat with a 65 today to take the 36-hole lead in the Masters Tournament.

The tall ex-dentist from Memphis and Kiamiesha Lake, N. Y., shot one of the finest rounds in the history of this colorful tournament—only one stroke over the Masters record to gain a four-stroke margin over Ben Hogan, usually the boss of the big course.

Middlecoff, putting like a demon, had nines of 31 and 34, seven strokes under Augusta National's par of 36-36-72, and would have tied the record if he hadn't faltered on the 17th green.

The record for the Masters and for a competitive round on the 6,900-yard Augusta National course is 64, made by Lloyd Mangrum in the first round in 1940.

This great round late today, following a par 72 on the opening round gave Middlecoff a 36-hole total of 137. Hogan, making a strong bid after Sam Snead had set the early pace, was relegated to second place with 73-68-141. Snead and the first round leader, Jackie Burke, wound up in a tie for third with 143's.

A sensational putting streak, climaxed by a 75-foot putt for an eagle three on the tricky 470-yard 13th hole earned Middlecoff to the first 65 ever scored in a Masters Tournament. After Mangrum's 64, three 65s were the best previous scores made on this great course in the annual appearances of America's greatest golfers.

Hogan shot one of those when he set the tournament's 72-hole record in winning his second Masters two years ago.

Today Hogan was shooting for the lead after a comparatively poor first round and he would have had it except for Middlecoff's sensational round. He shot 35-33-68, playing beautifully on the back nine and never going over par. A huge second-day crowd, close to 10,000, massed around the 18th green when Ben finished, then took out after Middlecoff. It caught him just about the time he put his second shot on the back of the 13th green then plunked in a putt which was measured as 75 feet.

Before that Cary had canned putts ranging from five to 15 feet for birdies on the first, sixth, seventh, eighth and ninth holes. He also birdied the 505-yard 15th with an eight-footer after driving into the rough.

Then with most of the gallery trailing him, Middlecoff barely reached the front of the 17th green with his approach and three-putted from about 75 feet away. That cost him the record.

Snead, although he bewailed a couple of wasted shots, also had a fine round today, 36-35-71. He was four strokes better at the 36-hole stage this time than he was a year ago, when he came on to tie Hogan with a record high score and then beat him in a playoff.

Burke, the first day leader with a 67, fell far off today, hitting his shots badly and putting erratically for a 76.

Alone at 144 was Bob Rosburg of San Francisco, who shot his second par 72. Mike Souchak, tied for second with an opening 71, slipped back to 74 for 145. Julius Boros, with 71-75, came in with a big group at 146.

Monroe Sand and Gravel No. 2 added three more points to its lead in the Industrial Equipment Bowling League by sweeping four points from Southwest Gas while second place Southern Equipment was dropping three out of four to the climbing Falstaff Beer team.

Anderson rolled a 187 game and 508 series to spark S. and G. No. 2's triumph, while Turner's 203-527 led the Falstaff march. Smith, with 190-531, led Southwest Gas, and Wilson's 172-479 topped Southern Equipment.

C. S. C. Dixsol maintained third place and pulled within half a point of Southern Equipment by taking three points from Standard Office Supply as Thompson led the way with 192-551. Newton and Duckworth rolled 160 high games for S. O. S. with Newton carding a 440 high series.

Monroe Sand and Gravel No. 1 claimed three points over Bucyrus-Erie and Foremost Dairy swept four from C. S. C. Ammonia. George Fruge, with 164-429, led S. and G. No. 1. Loflin sparked Foremost with 179-502; Stonehart's 164-418 was high for Ammonia, and Marsala and Jackson led B.E. Marsala had a 169 game, and Jackson posted a 444 series.

Howard Set As No. 2 Yankee Backstop

WILMINGTON, Del., April 8 (AP)—Elston Howard today was assured of becoming the first Negro to wear a New York Yankees uniform during the regular season when manager Casey Stengel said the 26-year-old St. Louis native had won a job as No. 2 catcher.

Howard was tried as both an outfielder and backstop in spring training.

"He's not a Major League outfielder," Stengel said. "But he is definitely my catcher behind Yogi Berra."

The manager also said Phil Rizzuto had won the shortstop job from Billy Hunter and that Bill Skowron was to play first base against all kinds of pitching.

Dodgers Find They Have Good Average

BROOKLYN, April 8 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers, who thought they hadn't done too much at the plate this spring, totaled up the figures today and discovered their eight regulars hit for a .391 average in the exhibitions.

Sandy Amoros led the Brooks with a .411 mark, followed by Jackie Robinson .342, Gil Hodges .333, Carl Furillo .324, Duke Snider .313, Pee Wee Reese .308, Roy Campanella .235 and Junior Gilliam .185.

ALL EYES ON THE BALL—Sam Snead has an attentive gallery as he pitches his ball here from the edge of the green on the Augusta National's course at Augusta, Ga., where he is defending his Masters championship. Snead, from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., shot a 71 yesterday after a first round 72 to land in a third place tie with Jackie Burke after 36 holes. Cary Middlecoff heads the parade by four strokes over Ben Hogan, running second. (AP Wirephoto)

Phils' Ashburn, Ennis Are Hurt During Collision

WILMINGTON, Del., April 8 (AP)—Richie Ashburn and Del Ennis, first-line outfielders of the Philadelphia Phillies, were taken to Memorial Hospital today after colliding under a long drive by Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees. The blow became an inside the park homer and tied the score at 5-5 in the eighth inning. The Phillies came back to win 8-5.

Ashburn came out of the crackup in worse shape than Ennis, who appeared to be merely shaken up. The center fielder sustained an injured left knee and it's quite possible he will not be able to play in the opener against the New York Giants Tuesday.

If he misses action, the game's longest current consecutive game playing streak will end. Ashburn has been in 730 straight games and it was expected he would challenge the National League record of 822, held by Gus Suhr of the Pittsburgh Pirates whose string ended in June of 1937.

Mantle's circuit blow was his second of the game, and was hit from a right stance off lefty Jack Springer. His first one came while hitting left-handed. This was the first time the Yankee slugger had hit home runs from both sides of the plate in the same game.

Both Ennis and Ashburn were knocked out by the crash but were able to leave the field under their own power after being revived.

Phillie trainer Frank Wiechec said later tonight that X-rays taken of Ennis' chest and left knee gave negative and that Del appeared badly shaken up at worst. In Ashburn's case, X-rays were taken of his head and left knee but reports were not received on them tonight. Both players were reported resting comfortably at their Wilmington Hotel rooms.

'Tiger' Jones In TKO Victory Over George Johnson

ST. LOUIS, April 8 (AP)—Ralph (Tiger) Jones stunned George Johnson with a left and right to the head and left him helpless against the ropes with a flurry of blows for a technical knockout tonight after two minutes and one second of the fifth round of their bout, scheduled for 10 rounds.

Jones weighed 158 1/2, Johnson 155. The New York middleweight hammered Johnson, a part Semino Indian from Trenton, N. J., with perhaps 12 or 15 blows as Johnson lay back against the ropes his arms outstretched.

Although Johnson didn't go down, he was a wide open target and referee Harry Kessler stepped in to call a halt to the nationally televised bout.

Johnson opened up an old cut alongside Jones' right eye in the third round with a sharp left jab. The Tiger, apparently sensing the fight might be stopped if the cut opened wider, stepped up his attack.

Jones, boring in with his usual flat-footed, aggressive style, quickly took charge in the fourth round and shook Johnson several times with a series of left hooks to the body.

Both Judges Fred Connell and Howard Hess had the two fighters even at 20 points each going into the fifth round, under the Missouri system of dividing 10 points between the fighters each round. Referee Harry Kessler had Jones ahead by two points at the end of the fourth.

All three scored the third round in favor of Johnson.

Jones, a 27-year-old Negro regarded as a light puncher, had scored only eight previous knockouts in winning 33 of his 49 pro fights.

More than 50 flamingoes are expected to be hatched at Hialeah race track this spring. The birds live on an island in the 32-acre infield lake at the Florida track.

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., April 8 (AP)—Alabama defeated Tulane 10-7 behind hitting of Bobby Hunt, Bobby Barnes and Bill Acrr today.

No Tulane player had more than one hit but four of the Greenies' eight were for extra bases. Milton Letif, Stan Stumpf and Carlos Levia had doubles while Ed Rubenstein had a triple.

The last of the two-game series will be played at 2 p.m. tomorrow. Alabama will start lefthander John Paul Anderson (2-1) while Tulane's choice for pitcher hasn't been named.

Lopez Declares Indians Will Win Pennant Again

CLEVELAND, April 8 (AP)—Al Lopez described the 1955 Cleveland Indians today as "the best team I ever managed" and predicted they would repeat as pennant winners with less than 111 victories they earned last season.

A story by Lopez was published today in the Cleveland News. In it, he credited the addition of rookie southpaw Herb Score and veteran outfielder Ralph Kiner for much of his optimism.

Lopez said frankly that he doesn't expect the Tribe to win 111 this season.

"The league has better balance this year, so 111 won't be necessary to win the pennant," he said.

Last year, he said, "we had the greatest pitching staff in the game. And now we have added an outstanding pitcher in Herb Score. In my mind, this boy is a solid, 24-carat gold addition, not a temporary flash or a springtime phenomenon."

"I've decided he's ready. He has come up with a big curve and he has the poise of a pitcher who has been around for years. He'll pitch in rotation against any and all clubs."

With Score among the starters, "The Indians have a formidable crew of moundmen which already includes Bob Lemon, Mike Garcia and Early Wynn. In addition, Lopez can call on veteran Bob Feller, who won 13 and lost three last season, another vet, Hal Newhouse; and two younger pitchers, Don Mossi and Ray Narleski, who made creditable relief appearances. Of Ralph Kiner, one time National League home run leader who came to the Indians via the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Chicago Cubs, Lopez said:

"I said at the start of spring training that if he played every day for us, he would hit 40 home runs. I wasn't sure at the time that he'd be good enough defensively to play regularly."

"From what I've seen of Ralph these past few days, I am now certain he'll play regularly for us—and hit these 40 home runs."

Expressing general praise for most of them, Lopez said he was "a little disappointed at first base."

"I think Vic Wertz got off to a bad start because he was worrying about the operation his wife has to undergo, but he seemed in a much better frame of mind when he re-joined the team Sunday," the manager said.

As in the past, Lopez expects his toughest competition to come from the New York Yankees.

"The 1955 World Series?"

"I'm not one for predictions, but personally I believe we will win the pennant again. Then we'll see about the World Series," Lopez said.

Bill White, 21-year-old first baseman for Dallas in the Texas League, is a premedical student at Hiram, Ohio, College during the off-season.

C. S. C. Ammonia	47

Monroe Sand and Gravel No. 2 added three more points to its fat lead in the Industrial Equipment Bowling League by sweeping four points from Southwest Gas while second place Southern Equipment was dropping three out of four to the climbing Falstaff Beer team.

Anderson rolled a 187 game and 508 series to spark S. and G. No. 2's triumph, while Turner's 203-527 led the Falstaff march. Smith, with 190-531, led Southwest Gas, and Wilcox's 172-479 topped Southern Equipment.

C. S. C. Dixsol maintained third place and pulled within half a point of Southern Equipment by taking three points from Standard Office Supply as Thompson led the way with 192-551. Newton and Duckkar rolled 160 high games for S. O. S. with Newton carding a 440 high series.

Monroe Sand and Gravel No. 1 claimed three points over Bucyrus-Erie and Foremost Dairy swept four from C. S. C. Ammonia. George Pruge, with 164-429, led S. and G. No. 1. Loflin sparked Foremost with 179-502. Stonehart's 164-418 was high for Ammonia, and Marsala and Jackson led B-E. Marsala had a 169 game, and Jackson posted a 444 series.

Howard Set As No. 2 Yankee Backstop

WILMINGTON, Del., April 8 (AP)—Elston Howard today was assured of becoming the first Negro to wear a New York Yankees uniform during the regular season when manager Casey Stengel said the 26-year-old St. Louis native had won a job as No. 2 catcher. Howard was tried as both an outfielder and backstop in spring training. "He's not a Major League outfielder," Stengel said. "But he is definitely my catcher behind Yogi Berra." The manager also said Phil Rizzuto had won the shortstop job from Billy Hunter and that Bill Skowron was set to play first base against all kinds of pitching.

Dodgers Find They Have Good Average

BROOKLYN, April 8 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers, who thought they hadn't done too much at the plate this spring, totaled up the figures today and discovered their eight regulars hit for a .301 average in the exhibitions. Sandy Amoros led the Brooks with a .411 mark, followed by Jackie Robinson .342, Gil Hodges .333, Carl Furillo .324, Duke Snider .313, Peevée Reese .308, Roy Campanella .235 and Junior Gilliam .185.

ALL EYES ON THE BALL—Sam Snead has an attentive gallery as he pitches his ball here from the edge of the green on the Augusta National's course at Augusta, Ga., where he is defending his Masters championship. Snead, from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., shot a 71 yesterday after a first round 72 to land in a third place tie with Jackie Burke after 36 holes. ## Phils' Ashburn, Ennis Are Hurt During Collision

WILMINGTON, Del., April 8 (AP)—Richie Ashburn and Del Ennis, first-line outfielders of the Philadelphia Phillies, were taken to Memorial Hospital today after colliding under a long drive by Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees. The blow became an inside the park homer and tied the score at 5-5 in the eighth inning. The Phillies came back to win 8-6.

Ashburn came out of the crackup in worse shape than Ennis, who appeared to be merely shaken up. The center fielder sustained an injured left knee and its quite possible he will not be able to play in the opener against the New York Giants Tuesday.

If he misses action, the game's longest current consecutive game playing streak will end. Ashburn has been in 730 straight games and it was expected he would challenge the National League record of 822, held by Gus Suhr of the Pittsburgh Pirates whose string ended in June of 1937.

Mantle's circuit blow was his second of the game, and was hit from a right stance off lefty Jack Binning. His first one came while battering lefthanded. This was the first time the Yankee slugger had hit home runs from both sides of the plate in the same game.

Both Ennis and Ashburn were knocked out by the crash but were able to leave the field under their own power after being revived. Phils trainer Frank Wiechek said later tonight that X-rays taken of Ennis' chest and left knee were negative and that Del appeared badly shaken up at worst. In Ashburn's case, X-rays were taken of his head and left knee but reports were not received on them tonight. Both players were reported resting comfortably at their Wilmington Hotel rooms.

L. S. U. Makes Only Home Track Appearance Today

BATON ROUGE, La., April 8 (Special)—Louisiana State's Bengal track team, inactive since its March 26 victory in the Florida Relays, will play host to the Thinsclads of Loyola and Mississippi Southern here Saturday in a triangular meet. It is the only home event on the track schedule.

Although little is known of the Mississippi Southern team, Bengal Coach Al Moreau knows he will have his hands full with Loyola's Wolfpack. The New Orleans crew will be strongest in the events in which the Tigers have been weakest.

In senior Frank Newman and junior Erwin Caswell Loyola has a pair of sprinters who have posted 9.8 in the 100-yard dash. Caswell holds the official school record in the 220 with a time of 21.3. Newman, however, set a Miami record in a quadrangular meet with Georgia, Georgia Tech and Miami with a 20.9 in the 220. Because a strong wind was blowing, the time is not considered an official Loyola record. Newman usually runs the opening leg on the 440, 880 and mile relay teams with Caswell running the final leg.

Larry Brooks and Billy Gene Jones will be pushing the Loyola stars in the sprints. Jones placed third in the 220 and fourth in the 100 against Texas A. and M. and Rice for the Bengals.

The Tigers have scored consistently in the hurdles. Harry Carpenter has claimed one first place in the highs and two thirds in the lows for the season and Jim McDonald placed fourth in the lows in one meet.

Joe May gives the Bengals a considerable edge in the javelin. He is undefeated in the event this season. His best effort of the season was a 202' 3½" toss in the Florida Relays. Russell Klempeter will also throw for the Tigers.

Harvey Cannon has helped the Tiger scoring in the shot put. He has hit 47' 9" this season. Now that spring football practice has ended, additional strength and depth is expected in this event as Jim Lavin returns to give his aid. Footballer Keith West should return to help Cannon with the discus.

In the field events, Loyola's Sam Ascani is a jack of all trades. He competes in the broad jump, the hop-step-and-jump, the high jump and runs a leg in the 440 and 880 relays. Last year he set a new record at the Southwestern Louisiana Relays with a 24' 1½" broad jump. His efforts won him the award for the most outstanding participant.

Senior James Brandau is another of the standouts on the visiting Wolfpack roster. Little has been heard of him for the past three years as he threw behind All-American Ray Rucker in the discus. Brandau, however, holds the Loyola record in this event with a 149' 11½" toss.

Clayton James and John Phillips have been fairly strong in the middle distances and have been showing steady improvement in practice. Both have place in previous meets for the Tigers. The mile and two-mile times have also improved under the efforts of Glynn Wood and Ralph Thompson.

Tulane Net Team Makes Tech 39th Straight Victim

ATLANTA, April 8 (AP)—Tulane University won its 39th consecutive tennis dual met by whipping Georgia Tech 9-0 today.

Tech won only one set, that in the No. 3 doubles match. Tulane has a 5-0 record for the season and Tech has won two of its six meets.

Today's results:
Singles—
Ham Richardson (T) defeated Mike Tierney 6-1, 6-0.
Jose Aguerro (T) defeated Jack Heisel 6-3, 6-1.

'Tiger' Jones In TKO Victory Over George Johnson

ST. LOUIS, April 8 (AP)—Ralph (Tiger) Jones stunned George Johnson with a left and right to the head and left him helpless against the ropes with a flurry of blows for a technical knockout tonight after two minutes and one second of the fifth round of their bout, scheduled for 10 rounds. Jones weighed 158½, Johnson 155.

The New York middleweight hammered Johnson, a part Seminole Indian from Trenton, N. J., with perhaps 12 or 15 blows as Johnson lay back against the ropes his arms outstretched.

Although Johnson didn't go down, he was a wide open target and referee Harry Kessler stepped in to call a halt to the nationally televised bout.

Johnson opened up an old cut alongside Jones' right eye in the third round with a sharp left jab. The Tiger, apparently sensing the fight might be stopped if the cut opened wider, stepped up his attack.

Jones, boring in with his usual flat-footed, aggressive style, quickly took charge in the fourth round and shook Johnson several times with a series of left hooks to the body.

Both judges Fred Connell and Howard Hess had the two fighters even at 20 points each going into the fifth round, under the Missouri system of dividing 10 points between the fighters each round. Referee Harry Kessler had Jones ahead by two points at the end of the fourth.

All three scored the third round in favor of Johnson. Jones, a 27-year-old Negro regarded as a light puncher, had scored only eight previous knockouts in winning 33 of his 49 pro fights.

More than 50 flamingoes are expected to be hatched at Hialeah race track this spring. The birds live on an island in the 32-acre infield lake at the Florida track.

Lopez Declares Indians Will Win Pennant Again

CLEVELAND, April 8 (AP)—Al Lopez described the 1955 Cleveland Indians today as "the best team I ever managed" and predicted they would repeat as pennant winners with less than 111 victories they earned last season.

A story by Lopez was published today in the Cleveland News. In it, he credited the addition of rookie southpaw Herb Score and veteran outfielder Ralph Kiner for much of his optimism.

Lopez said frankly that he doesn't expect the Tribe to win 111 this season.

"The league has better balance this year, so 111 won't be necessary to win the pennant," he said.

Last year, he said, "we had the greatest pitching staff in the game. And now we have added an outstanding pitcher in Herb Score. In my mind, this boy is a solid, 24-carat gold addition, not a temporary flash or a springtime phenomenon."

"I've decided he's ready. He has come up with a big curve and he has the poise of a pitcher who has been around for years. He'll pitch in rotation against any and all clubs."

With Score among the starters, the Indians have a formidable crew of moundmen which already includes Bob Lemon, Mike Garcia and Early Wynn. In addition, Lopez can call on veteran Bob Feller, who won 13 and lost three last season, another vet, Hal Newhouse; and two younger pitchers, Don Mossi and Ray Narleski, who made creditable relief appearances. Of Ralph Kiner, one time National League home run leader who came to the Indians via the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Chicago Cubs, Lopez said:

"I said at the start of spring training that if he played every day for us, he would hit 40 home runs. I wasn't sure at the time that he'd be good enough defensively to play regularly."

"From what I've seen of Ralph these past few days, I am now certain he'll play regularly for us—and hit these 40 home runs."

Expressing general praise for most of them, Lopez said he was "a little disappointed at first base." "I think Vic Wertz got off to a bad start because he was worrying about the operation his wife has to undergo, but he seemed in a much better frame of mind when he rejoined the team Sunday," the manager said.

As in the past, Lopez expects his toughest competition to come from the New York Yankees.

The 1955 World Series? "I'm not one for predictions, but personally I believe we will win the pennant again. Then we'll see about the World Series," Lopez said.

Bill White, 21-year-old first baseman for Dallas in the Texas League, is a premedical student at Hiram, Ohio, College during the off-season.

Five Hurlers Under Head's Eyes In Practice Game

Andrews' Pitching Again Looms Big For Bulldogs

RUSTON, La., April 8 (Special) — Milford Andrews, Louisiana Tech's all-conference pitcher of last season, seems to have taken up where he left off in 1954 on the baseball diamond.

The Delhi junior student has already won one Gulf States Conference contest for the Tech Bulldogs and has shown up especially well in a number of exhibition tilts thus far.

Last year Andrews won five and lost two for the Canines in helping his team take co-championship honors of the Gulf States league. This spring he has worked 20 innings in the pitcher's box and has allowed only two runs and seven hits.

In Tech's opening C.S.C. battle 3-hit performance. The Delhi hurler struck out 11 McNeese batters in the game.

Andrews also set down a hard-hitting Mississippi Southern team with three hits and two runs in the six innings he was on the mound in that non-conference battle. In his only other collegiate game of this season Andrews went for 8 innings against Springhill College and gave up one hit.

"Andrews is usually a very cool pitcher even under pressure," Bulldog coach Berry Hinton points out. "He has a good fast ball, Milford is a pretty fair hitter, too, and if you don't watch him he'll sock the ball for an extra base hit."

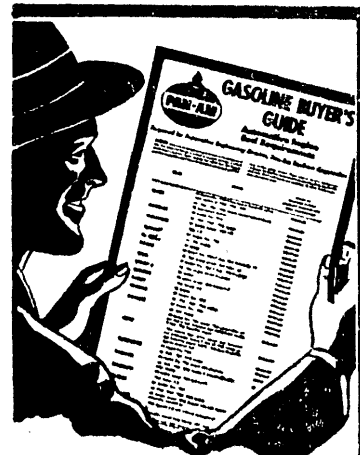

The Techsters have now won one and lost one in Gulf States play this season. After beating McNeese the Canines lost to Southwestern Louisiana 3 to 4. Tech's next baseball action is set for April 15 when the Bulldogs will be host to Southeastern Louisiana for a G.S.C. battle. On April 16 Tech and Centenary College clash at Shreveport.

Tribe's Early Wynn Rest-Hospitalized

CLEVELAND, April 8 (AP) — The Cleveland Indians' ailing pitcher, Early Wynn, was sent to Lakeside Hospital today for rest and "to get straightened out," as Dr. Don Kelly put it.

Two weeks ago Wynn had what seemed to be influenza. After less than a week's layoff, he attempted to pitch, and he had a relapse.

Dr. Kelly, the club physician, diagnosed the difficulty as bronchitis and said the hurler would be kept in the hospital two or three days. He added that Wynn might pitch in a week or so.

Twin Cities Take 11-7 Camp Scrap From M'Alester

HATTIESBURG, Miss., April 8 (Special) Manager Ed Head looked over five pitchers in a six-inning practice game here today as his Twin Cities Sports from Monroe, West Monroe, La., of the Cotton States League defeated McAlester, Okla., of the Sooner State circuit, 11 to 7, in a meeting of New York Yankee farm clubs.

Head announced another six-inning practice session with Manager Marv Crater's McAlester club tomorrow afternoon before the two clubs get in their first "official exhibition" against each other over nine innings here Sunday afternoon.

Hattiesburg fans have been seeing the abbreviated games free, but an admission will be charged for the Sunday regulation game for the benefit of the ball park upkeep.

The arrival of shortstop Rod Kanehl today filled the roster of 33 candidates for Manager Head's Cotton States club, but hardly half of them are expected to be taken to Monroe for their season opener with El Dorado on April 26.

Head today said short practice games or full distance exhibitions would probably be the daily fare for his boys during the rest of their stay here.

Of the five pitchers working for Head today, most impressive were Olden Hoover, who hurled the last two as the winning pitcher, and Ken Travis and Galen Hudspeth. Travis and Hudspeth blanked McAlester in their single frames. Errors contributed to fifth innings runs off Hoover.

The Sports collected 12 hits, three of them by Vic Spatafora, shortstop, who connected for a triple and two singles and batted in five runs. His first inning triple came with the bases loaded. He hit a two-run single in the sixth to break a 7-7 tie.

Outfielder Vic Caradonna, second baseman Bob Maness, and catcher Gregg Carney got two hits apiece with Maness batting in two runs.

The highly regarded Mantle twins, Roy and Ray, came in for a single apiece, with Ray batting in two runs, one with his single, and the other with a sacrifice fly that accounted for the final run.

The score was knotted at 7-7 when Caradonna led off the sixth inning with a single and was sacrificed to second. Maness singled, and a base on balls filled the bags. Spatafora scored two runs with a single into left field that got through the fielder and Spatafora pulled up at third from where he scored on Ray Mantle's sacrifice fly.

Score by innings: Twin Cities — 311, 204—11 12 4 McAlester — 020 050—7 8 7 Taylor, Brennek (2), Colgan (4), Turrell (6) and Schmidt; Dechano, Raimo (2), Travis (3), Hudspeth (4), Hoover (5) and Carney.

The Fishing Report

Weather conditions the last three to four weeks, what with heavy rain and alternating temperatures of cold to warm have made fishing a hit and miss proposition for several days.

One day good strings are taken, and the next day you can't get a nibble. Just the same, the angler hitting his spot at the right time with the right bait has been able to show a good day, like the fellows taking bream and "specks" in Cheniere creek in the woods below the spillway near dawn early in the week, or the fisherman who had some whoppers of bream running around a pound apiece in many instances that he took from Black Bayou lakes around the middle of the week.

Those rains a while back not only cut into the fishermen's sport, but was tragic for the fish, too, in some ways. The rapid rise in Cheniere lake from that 6-inch plus rain sent the water level well over the many stumps left by timber operations. Bass used the tops of those stumps for spawning beds. But since the spawning, the water level has fell back below the tops of many of those stumps. The fish eggs are left high and dry, ruined.

CHENIERE LAKE The water is clearing again since its muddied condition as a result of the heavy rain of a few weeks ago, and the speckled perch and bream have shown evidence of a little more activity.

Improvement has been noted this week on Cheniere bream fishing with the best catches being taken with crickets.

The "specks" were biting "fair" Thursday, better than usual for the week but they were taking the bait slow. Best speck fishing has been with shiners at varying depths from three feet deeper.

Cold snaps following the rain slowed Cheniere fishing after a good March start, but warm weather with continuing clearance of the water will make for better sport. Some good takes this week came from "between the islands." Coon and Joe's, where the water is showing good condition once more.

Bobby Jones Says Masters Tourney Is Golfdom Giant

Augusta, Ga., April 8 (AP) — Bobby Jones, one of the founding fathers of the Masters Tournament, said today that in 21 short years their "baby" has grown into a giant of golfdom—an unexpected though pleasant surprise.

"It has grown considerably beyond our expectations," said the grand slam master at an informal news conference. "We didn't expect anything more than a lot of fun when we started out."

"Cliff Roberts' idea was to bring in some of the golfers of the past and present who had made contributions to the game to play with me in a tournament and have a little fun."

Roberts, a New York investment broker, is credited, along with Jones, as the prime mover in founding the exclusive Augusta National Golf Club, which counts President Eisenhower among its members, and launching this tournament in 1934.

Jones had retired from competitive golf after climaxing his brilliant career by sweeping the U. S. Amateur and Open tournaments and their British counterparts in 1930. But he returned to the golfing world for this one tournament each year until a back ailment forced him to quit for good several years ago.

Jones reminded that the tournament started out merely as another, though different, invitational affair and that the name "Masters" was applied by newsmen rather than the club.

"We didn't aspire to such a grand title," he commented. The Masters title is limited by a strict set of qualification rules, to golfers who already have achieved some measure of greatness. Jones said there are no plans afoot to liberalize the qualifying rules.

Jim Pollard Due To Get LaSalle's Cage Coach Post

PHILADELPHIA, April 8 (AP) — Big Jim Pollard, brilliant Minneapolis Lakers' pro basketball star, has the inside track on the LaSalle College coaching job.

The 32-year-old Pollard was in town Thursday to talk things over with LaSalle officials. The impression is that the former Stanford University ace and three-time All-Pro selection, can have the post if he wants it. He'll probably let LaSalle know by next Wednesday.

LaSalle began a hunt for a new coach about 10 days ago when Ken Loeffler resigned unexpectedly to take the basketball job at Texas A. and M. Under Loeffler, LaSalle won 145 and lost 30 in six years, appearing in a post season tournament every season. LaSalle won the National Invitation crown in 1952, and the N.C.A.A. title in 1954. Loeffler's team was runnerup in the N.C.A.A. battle this year.

Pollard talked over the LaSalle prospects with Brother E. Stanislaus, college president, and Jim Henry, athletic director. The number of scholarships available and the salary apparently were the chief topics of conversation. Loeffler was a combination coach-professor. He taught business law at the Roman Catholic institution.

Pollard, who helped Minneapolis win six National Basketball Association championships, would inherit a veteran team. Of course, he'd have to do without the three time All-America, Tom Gola, who graduates this June. But the rest of the squad is back, plus the possibility of some 6-foot, five and 6-foot, seven-inch help from a couple of 1954-55 ineligibles.

The 6-5 Laker ace, who for years played in the shadow of big George Mikan, was an applicant last year for the coaching post at his alma mater, Stanford, but former college teammate, Howard Dalmalar, left Penn to accept the coast job. Pollard, who has scored 6,522 points for Minneapolis in eight seasons, probably realizes he's about at the end of his playing days, and is looking for a coaching post.

Should Pollard, who is married and the father of two boys, take the LaSalle job, he would succeed probably his greatest admirer. Loeffler has said many times he'd rather have five Pollards on his team than five Mikans any day. In fact, Loeffler, when he became coach of the St. Louis Bombers in the defunct Basketball Association of America some years ago, tried to sign Pollard.

Loeffler says he'd have had the one-time coast star if it hadn't been for a St. Louis official who agreed to send him a $12,000 contract and then, without telling the coach, never mailed it. It was learned that Pollard had never heard from him and consequently went to Minneapolis because the St. Louis official decided no one basketball player could be worth $12,000.

Ike Williams, Beau Jack Meet Tonight

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 8 (AP) — Beau Jack and Ike Williams, two aging former lightweight boxing champions, meet for the third time tomorrow night at Augusta's Municipal Auditorium.

Williams, who held the title from April, 1945, until May, 1951, whipped Jack in both of their previous meetings.

Williams retained his lightweight crown with a sixth round knockout against Jack in Philadelphia on July 12, 1948. He outpointed the Augusta shoe-shine boy in a 10-round non-title bout at Providence, R. I., on March 5, 1951.

Jack held the championship in 1943.

Small But Classy Field Of Four In Bowie 'Cap Today

BOWIE, Md., April 8 (UP) — A small but classy field of four thoroughbreds Helioscope, Fisherman, Joe Jones and Social Outcast — was entered Friday for the second running of the $75,000 added John B. Campbell Memorial Handicap Saturday at Bowie race track.

These top ranking handicap stars have earned a total of more than a million dollars in purses with each scheduled to add to his total in the mile and one-sixteenth stakes. Each will get some part of the purse but Helioscope, the pride of Maryland racing and owned by William G. Helis Jr., is favored to take the winner's share.

The bay son of Helioscope launched his 1955 campaign by winning the Southern Maryland Handicap March 26 under 128 pounds. He carries 130 Saturday, spotting five pounds to Fisherman and Social Outcast and nine to Joe Jones.

Social Outcast, Alfred G. Vanderbilt's representative in the handicaps division now that Native Dance has been retired to stud, is the only starter who hasn't won one of Maryland's big races.

It was Helioscope who grabbed the Pimlico special last fall for his fifth stakes victory of the year while Joe Jones, owned by Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs, won the Campbell Memorial Dec. 4 at Bowie's fall meeting. Little Fisherman, the pride and joy of C. V. Whitney, won the Washington, D.C. International at Laurel last fall.

Three Southeast Conference schools — Alabama, Georgia Tech and Tennessee — have played twice in the annual Cotton Bowl football game. Each has won and lost.

Cubs Home For Drills; Shooting For '55 Flag

CHICAGO, April 9 (UP) — Manager Stan Hack brought his Chicago Cubs home Friday for a two hour drill in Wrigley Field and then said his boys would be "shooting for the top and not for the first division" in the National League race.

"I know we're improved," he said, "but I don't know how much the other clubs have improved. So I can't make any prediction as to finishing fourth or anywhere else."

"But we're better in our outfield and we hope in our pitching. So we certainly won't open aiming for the top."

Hack, formerly a star third baseman with the Cubs, said that rookies Bob Thorpe, Hy Cohen and Sad Sam Jones promised to improve the hurling department, while he expected his outfield to have considerably more speed with Kiner gone and rookie Gale Wade and Jim Bolger, sharing center field with Frankie Baumholtz in right.

"We don't know about our new pitchers," he said. "We'd like to bring them along slowly, but the way it is, we'll just have to start them and see what they can do."

Hack figured, of course, that such veterans as Bob Rush, his nominee for Monday's opener at Cincinnati, Paul Minner, named to face the Cardinals here Tuesday, and Howie Pollet would keep going.

"Pollet looks real good," he said, "way ahead of last year. But of course last year at this time, the whole club had 10 more days under its belt."

Baltimore May See Opening-Day Seat Vacancies

BALTIMORE, April 8 (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles faced empty seats today for the opening of their second American League baseball next Tuesday with Boston.

About one-fourth of the stadium's capacity of 47,000 remains to be sold. There are 7,500 reserved general admission tickets available and 3,500 bleacher seats are to be put on sale Tuesday morning.

The management is hoping that arrival of the players themselves off the scene tomorrow morning will perk up interest. The team is to arrive from spring training at 8 a.m. and the city is planning an official welcome.

The Orioles then will put on exhibitions with the Pittsburgh Pirates Saturday afternoon and Sunday. They will open the official season Monday in Washington.

Tigers Buy Utility Player From Giants

DETROIT, April 8 (AP) — The Detroit Tigers today purchased utility infielder Ron Samford from the New York Giants for the waiver price of $10,000.

Samford hit .253 for Oakland of the Pacific Coast League last season. He appeared in 12 games for the Giants.

Five Hurlers Under Head's Eyes In Practice Game

Andrews' Pitching Again Looms Big For Bulldogs

RUSTON, La., April 8 (Special) — Milford Andrews, Louisiana Tech's all-conference pitcher of last season, seems to have taken up where he left off in 1954 on the baseball diamond.

The Delhi junior student has already won one Gulf States Conference contest for the Tech Bulldogs and has shown up especially well in a number of exhibition tilts thus far.

Last year Andrews won five and lost two for the Canines in helping his team take co-championship honors of the Gulf States league. This spring he has worked 20 innings in the pitcher's box and has allowed only two runs and seven hits.

In Tech's opening C.S.C. battle 3-hit performance, the Delhi hurler struck out 11 McNeese batters in the game.

Andrews also set down a hard-hitting Mississippi Southern team with three hits and two runs in the six innings he was on the mound in that non-conference battle. In his only other collegiate play of this season Andrews went for 5 innings against Springhill College and gave up one hit.

"Andrews is usually a very cool pitcher even under pressure," Bulldog coach Berry Hinton points out. "He has a good fast ball, Milford is a pretty fair hitter, too, and if you don't watch him he'll sock the ball for an extra base hit."

The Techsters have now won one and lost one in Gulf States play this season. After beating McNeese the Canines lost to Southwestern Louisiana 3 to 4. Tech's next baseball action is set for April 15 when the Bulldogs will be host to Southeastern Louisiana for a G.S.C. battle. On April 16 Tech and Centenary College clash at Shreveport.

Simmy Favorite In Gotham Today At Jamaica Park

NEW YORK, April 8 (AP) — Simmy, a long - striding colt who equalled the world record for six and a half furlongs in his last start at Gulfstream Park, is favorite in a field of seven going tomorrow in the $25,000 added Gotham Stakes at Jamaica race track.

This is the race for the "almost but not quite" sophomores of the season, restricted this year to non-stakes winners. So such derby prospects as Nashua, Summer Tan and Boston Dodge will be on the sidelines in the mile run and a sixteenth test.

Mrs. Dorothy P. Belz's Simmy, son of Duke, apparently scared off most of the opposition with his fast clockings in Florida and his excellent showing in big stakes races last year which he barely failed to win.

He finished second to Summer Tan at Garden State in the Garden State Stakes, world's richest horse race, and also was second to Georgian in the Washington Park Futurity. Without a big stakes winning purse, he wound up with earnings of $94,675.

At Gulfstream Simmy was clocked at 1:15 4-5, equalling a world record, while going 6 1/2 furlongs under 119 pounds. Earlier he dashed six furlongs in 1:10 at the same track. Tomorrow all entries carry 120 pounds.

Simmy's chief competition is expected from Howard Weinstein's Mr. Al L. liked because of his known ability to go the distance, and George D. Widner's Mandil, making his 1955 stakes debut after winning three straight allowance races this winter.

Other entries include Eugene Constantin Jr.'s Ocean Lane; Roslyn farm's Go Lightly; Clifford Moore's Nabesna and the Flying L. stable's Bangborough.

Too Many Braves Second Basemen Problem Solved

Milwaukee, April 8 (AP) — Milwaukee Braves' manager Charlie Grimm said today he'd solved the pleasant problem that stems from having a pair of topflight second basemen.

"Danny O'Connell will play against left handed pitching and Jack Dittmer against right handed," Grimm said. O'Connell's back which kept him out of action for two weeks in spring training, is okay again. Dittmer has played fine ball all spring. Jack is sure to see lots of action."

Dittmer, who lost his second base post last year after the Braves bought O'Connell from Pittsburgh, has hit .259 in 54 exhibition appearances to date while O'Connell has .235 in 34 trips to the plate.

Grimm declared, "I feel good about the club." He said Bob Buhl indicates he's on the way back and "they tell me Bobby Thomson's sore shoulder will be okay for opening day."

The Braves who arrived home yesterday, held their first workout at Milwaukee County Stadium this morning. They'll meet Cleveland here tomorrow and Sunday to windup the Grapefruit League campaign.

Low Burdette will start for Milwaukee tomorrow and Bob Lemon will work for the Indians.

Detroit Tiger Bat Order Not Set Yet

ST. LOUIS, April 8 (AP) — With the Detroit Tigers' American League opener with Kansas City only four days away, manager Bucky Harris still hasn't decided on the club batting order.

Harris said today he'll be better able to make the decision after Detroit's three-game meeting with the St. Louis Cardinals this weekend.

The two clubs are scheduled to play a doubleheader tomorrow and a single game Sunday.

Twin Cities Take 11-7 Camp Scrap From M'Alester

HATTIESBURG, Miss., April 8 (Special) Manager Ed Head looked over five pitchers in a six-inning practice game here today as his Twin Cities Sports from Monroe, La., of the Cotton States League defeated McAlester, Okla., of the Sooner State circuit, 11 to 7, in a meeting of New York Yankee farm clubs.

Head announced another six-inning practice session with Manager Marv Crater's McAlester club tomorrow afternoon before the two clubs get in their first "official exhibition" against each other over nine innings here Sunday afternoon.

Hattiesburg fans have been seeing the abbreviated games free, but an admission will be charged for the Sunday regulation game for the benefit of the ball park upkeep.

The arrival of shortstop Rod Kanehl today filled the roster of 33 candidates for Manager Head's Cotton States club, but hardly half of them are expected to be taken to Monroe for their season opener with El Dorado on April 26.

Head today said short practice games or full distance exhibitions would probably be the daily fare for his bays during the rest of their stay here.

Of the five pitchers working for Head today, most impressive were Olden Hoover, who hurled the last two as the winning pitcher, and Ken Travis and Galen Hudspeth. Travis and Hudspeth blanked McAlester in their single frames. Errors contributed to fifth innings runs off Hoover.

The Sports collected 12 hits, three of them by Vic Spatafora, shortstop, who connected for a triple and two singles and batted in five runs. His first inning triple came with the bases loaded. He hit a two-run single in the sixth to break a 7-7 tie.

Outfielder Vic Caradonna, second baseman Bob Maness, and catcher Gregg Carney got two hits apiece with Maness batting in two runs.

The highly regarded Mantle twins, Roy and Ray, came in for a single apiece, with Ray batting in two runs, one with his single, and the other with a sacrifice fly that accounted for the final run.

The score was knotted at 7-7 when Caradonna led off the sixth inning with a single and was sacrificed to second. Maness singled, and a base on balls filled the bags. Spatafora scored two runs with a single into left field that got through the fielder and Spatafora pulled up at third where he scored on Ray Mantle's sacrifice fly.

Score by innings:

Twin Cities ... 311 204—11 12 4
McAlester ... 020 050— 7 8 7

Taylor, Brennek (2), Colgan (4), Turelli (6) and Schmidt; Dechano, Raimo (2), Travis (3), Hudspeth (4), Hoover (5) and Carney.

Bobby Jones Says Masters Tourney Is Golfdom Giant

Augusta, Ga., April 8 (AP) — Bobby Jones, one of the founding fathers of the Masters Tournament, said today that in 21 short years their "baby" has grown into a giant of golfdom—an unexpected though pleasant surprise.

"It has grown considerably beyond our expectations," said the grand slam master at an informal news conference. "We didn't expect anything more than a lot of fun when we started out."

"Cliff Roberts' idea was to bring in some of the golfers of the past and present who had made contributions to the game to play with me in a tournament and have a little fun.

Roberts, a New York investment broker, is credited, along with Jones, as the prime mover in founding the exclusive Augusta National Golf Club, which counts President Eisenhower among its members, and launching this tournament in 1934.

Jones had retired from competitive golf after climaxing his brilliant career by sweeping the U. S. Amateur and Open tournaments and their British counterparts in 1930. But he returned to the golfing wars for this one tournament each year until a back ailment forced him to quit for good several years ago.

Jones reminded that the tournament started out merely as another, though different, invitational affair and that the name "Masters" was applied by newsmen rather than the club.

"We didn't aspire to such a grand title," he commented.

The Masters fidd is limited by a strict set of qualification rules, to golfers who already have achieved some measure of greatness. Jones said there are no plans afoot to liberalize the qualifying rules.

The Fishing Report

Weather conditions the last three to four weeks, what with heavy rain and alternating temperatures of cold to warm have made fishing a hit and miss proposition for several days.

One day good strings are taken, and the next day you can't get a nibble. Just the same, the angler hitting his spot at the right time with the right bait has been able to show a good day, like the fellows taking bream and "specks" in Cheniere creek in the woods below the spillway near dawn early in the week, or the fisherman who had some whoppers of bream running around a pound apiece in many instances that he took from Black Bayou lakes around the middle of the week.

Those rains a while back not only cut into the fishermen's sport, but was tragic for the fish, too, in some ways. The rapid rise in Cheniere lake from that 6-inch plus rain sent the water level well over the many stumps left by timber operations. Bass used the tops of those stumps for spawning beds. But since the spawning, the water level has fell back below the tops of many of those stumps. The fish eggs are left high and dry, ruined.

SOLUNAR TABLES

The schedule of Solunar periods printed below has been taken from John Alden Knight's Solunar tables. Plan your days so that you will be fishing in good territory, or hunting in good cover during these times, if you wish to find the best spot that each day has to offer.

A.M.	TODAY	P.M.
Minor	Major	Minor
7:05	12:50	7:20
Major	Minor	Major

A.M.	TOMORROW	P.M.
Minor	Major	Minor
7:50	1:35	8:05

The major periods begin at the times shown and last for an hour and a half or two hours thereafter. The minor periods are of somewhat shorter duration.

Jim Pollard Due To Get LaSalle's Cage Coach Post

PHILADELPHIA, April 8 (AP) — Big Jim Pollard, brilliant Minneapolis Lakers' pro basketball star, has the inside track on the LaSalle College court coaching job.

The 32-year-old Pollard was in town Thursday to talk things over with LaSalle officials. The impression is that the former Stanford University ace and three-time All-Pro selection, can have the post if he wants it. He'll probably let LaSalle know by next Wednesday.

LaSalle began a hunt for a new coach about 10 days ago when Ken Loeffler resigned unexpectedly to take the basketball job at Texas A. and M. Under Loeffler, LaSalle won 145 and lost 30 in six years, appearing in a post season tournament every season. LaSalle won the National Invitation crown in 1952, and the N.C.A.A. title in 1954. Loeffler's team was runner-up in the N.C.A.A. battle this year.

Pollard talked over the LaSalle prospects with Brother E. Stanislaus, college president, and Jim Henry, athletic director. The number of scholarships available and the salary apparently were the chief topics of conversation. Loeffler was a combination coach-professor. He taught business law at the Roman Catholic institution.

Pollard, who helped Minneapolis win six National Basketball Association championships, would inherit a veteran team. Of course, he'd have to do without the three time All-American, Tom Gola, who graduates this June. But the rest of the squad is back, plus the possibility of some 6-foot, five and 6-foot, seven-inch help from a couple of 1954-55 ineligibles.

The 6-5 Laker ace, who for years played in the shadow of big George Mikan, was an applicant last year for the coaching post at his alma mater, Stanford, but former college teammate, Howard Dallmar, left Penn to accept the coach job. Pollard, who has scored 6,522 points for Minneapolis in eight seasons, probably realizes he's about at the end of his playing days and is looking for a coaching post.

Should Pollard, who is married and the father of two boys, take the LaSalle job, he would succeed probably his greatest admirer. Loeffler has said many times he'd rather have five Pollards on his team than five Mikans any day. In fact, Loeffler, when he became coach of the St. Louis Bombers in the defunct Basketball Association of America some years ago, tried to sign Pollard.

Schelly used a .47 caliber muzzle loader.

Do You Know When Your Prayer Is Answered?

By the Rev. Edward A. Moran
St. Nicholas Church, Atlantic City, N. J.

This is a true story, important because it proves so shockingly that most people do not recognize the answer to their prayer when it comes. So many people complain that their prayers are not answered when the answer is in their lap!

A poor woman in Chicago had a daughter stricken with a serious spastic condition that had left the child with a back that was, so the doctors said, impossible to cure. She read of the great wonder performed in a not unusual case by the great Dr. Adolf Lorenz, the famous bloodless surgeon of Vienna who had been brought to Chicago by the Armour family and had performed his amazing technique successfully on their child.

Spirited with new hope, the poor woman began a prayer campaign, even while she besieged the doctor with letters, telegrams, and messages through "influential" friends that he might consider her case and look at her child.

But Dr. Lorenz, well on in years, was closely watched, and had been warned to take things easy. The woman received no answer; no doubt the pleas never reached him personally. But as word was printed that he would soon sail for Europe, her desperate storming of heaven mounted and she prayed for a miracle. Day and night she fasted and prayed.

An Old Man
A terrifying electrical storm broke unexpectedly on the lake city one day in the midst of a heat wave. When a piece of porch furniture slammed against the wall of her house the woman rushed out to rescue it. As she worked, she was aware of a disreputable figure huddling at her side porch.

"Get away from here, old man," she called. "Go away."

The look on his face was so pathetic, a wave of remorse attacked her. She should ask him in, but her place was in deplorable condition with undone chores. Besides, there was sickness in the house—how could she be expected to handle more?

With gasping breath the woman hurried to struggle with her garage doors. When she succeeded in closing them against the pelting rain, she turned to see a limousine draw up to the curb. A chauffeur sprang out, and from inside both a man and woman leaped to the sidewalk to help the old rain-soaked figure of the man she had sent away into the car.

A Miracle
Passersby stood and gaped—forgetful of the downpour—and the woman, overcome with curiosity, joined them. As the limousine drove off she asked one of the onlookers: "Who on earth was that man?"

"Gosh," he told her, "that was Dr. Lorenz—the whiz surgeon. He went out for a walk and got lost. Everybody was frantic for him—he's due to take the train east at six, and sails back to Europe tomorrow."

The woman took one last look at the disappearing limousine. God had worked a miracle for her and sent Dr. Lorenz to her very doorstep. She had thought him a vagrant, and had sent him packing, no mercy or kindness in her heart. She had thought him "one of the least of these," and had failed to treat him as one of God's creatures. She refused shelter to the man she had prayed would come!

I always hesitate to tell the rest of that story, except that it drives home the need of rising to a test. Never Recovered

They carried the woman inside her own house when she fainted. She never recovered. When she came to, her mind was wandering and she had spent some 20 years of her life in a sanitarium. Her daughter died within the year.

Those of us who pray for help must keep pure of heart enough to accept the answer God gives us. We are so set many times in our own conception of how the intention should be granted, that we often do not recognize a miracle. If, however, we were confident and sure of God's mercy and help, we would not question what falls in our day's affairs but would seize upon each opportunity.

A certain clergyman was sent to see a man who had prayed "to no avail" to be relieved from a debt that threatened imprisonment. When he arrived, the clergyman found the man preparing for suicide.

"This is absurd. Why do you doubt so? Of course God has heard and will answer you," the clergyman protested. "You know He has forgiveness for someone truly penitent who turns to Him in prayer. Come with me now and help me do a mean job."

What He Missed
Seeking to distract the poor man, the clergyman begged him to go and help a nearby parishioner who had a flooded cellar. But there was no response.

Defeated, the clergyman stayed for over an hour, made coffee, and talked to the desperate soul, hoping to give him courage enough to face trial.

Later they learned that the man who did help with the flooded cellar had found a diamond brooch that had been lost over a quarter of a century. The real owner could not be found. The value would have more than paid off the prayed-for release from debt.

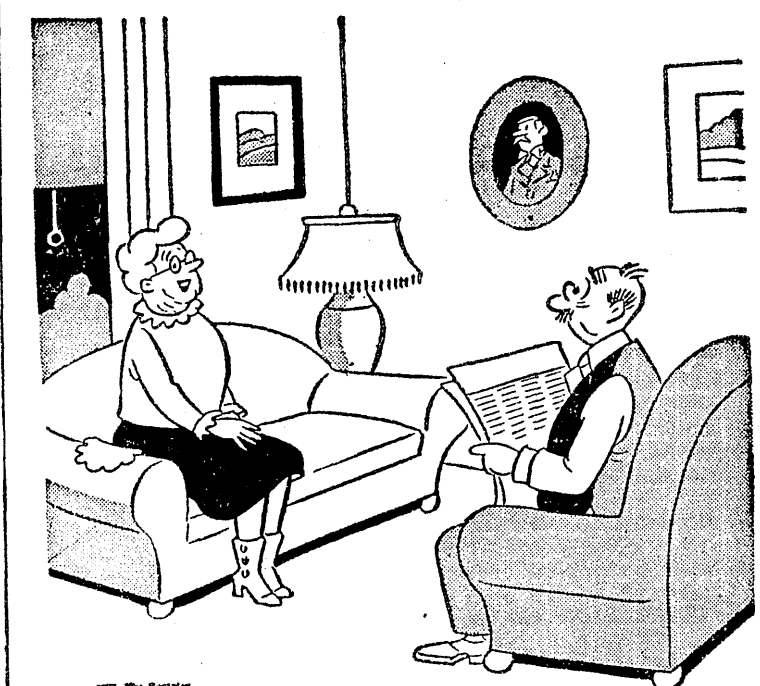

Nothing makes me more distressed than hearing people complain they do not get an answer to prayer. I have reason to suspect they do not know or recognize or deserve their answer when they get it. But I do know—no prayer goes unanswered. They get their answer.

Indian Ambassador And Bulganin In Conference

LONDON, April 8.—UP—Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin received India's ambassador to Moscow for an hour-long conference Friday which led to the belief here that Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru has renewed efforts to arrange a cease-fire in the deadlocked Formosan dispute.

A Moscow announcement said only that Indian Ambassador K. P. S. Menon's talk with the Soviet leader "covered a wide range of subjects."

Diplomats here noted that the meeting occurred 10 days before the opening of the Afro-Asian conference at Bandung, Indonesia, at which Nehru is to meet Red China's Premier Chou En-Lai. Later, in June, Nehru will pay a visit to Moscow.

It also was noted here that the visit of the Indian ambassador to the Kremlin followed top level soundings in Washington and London.

Informed sources here were convinced that the Formosan crisis was a major subject in the discussions of the Indian ambassador and the new Soviet premier.

India and Britain had both sought Moscow's assistance earlier in a search for a cease-fire formula for the Formosa Strait.

Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov met several times with the Indian representative on the Formosan question. But lack of response from the Red Chinese regime in Peking deadlocked the efforts to arrange a settlement.

Bulganin recently consulted with Red China's ambassador in Moscow, Liu Hsiang. Nothing was disclosed publicly concerning their discussions and nothing beyond the barest announcement was forthcoming from Friday's talks between Bulganin and Menon.

In their meeting last month in New Delhi, Nehru and Anthony Eden, who has since become prime minister of Britain, were reported to have agreed to make a new diplomatic effort to arrange a Formosan cease-fire as speedily as possible.

Meanwhile, Nehru was said to be sounding out sentiments in the west as well as in Russia and Red China. His special envoy, Krishna Menon, conferred with Eden last weekend in a hastily arranged interview in London.

Menon had visited President Eisenhower in Washington on March 15 and a week later consulted with U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

Five Youths Drop Damage Suit For Trillion Million

JACKSON, Miss., April 8.—UP—Five youngsters who threatened to sue for one trillion million dollars unless city officials let them have music with their ice cream reached a friendly out-of-court agreement today.

Two weeks ago, the city decided to ban music boxes from ice cream wagons. It seemed some adults didn't like the noise.

But the kids did. Five of them called up city officials and threatened the trillion dollar suit.

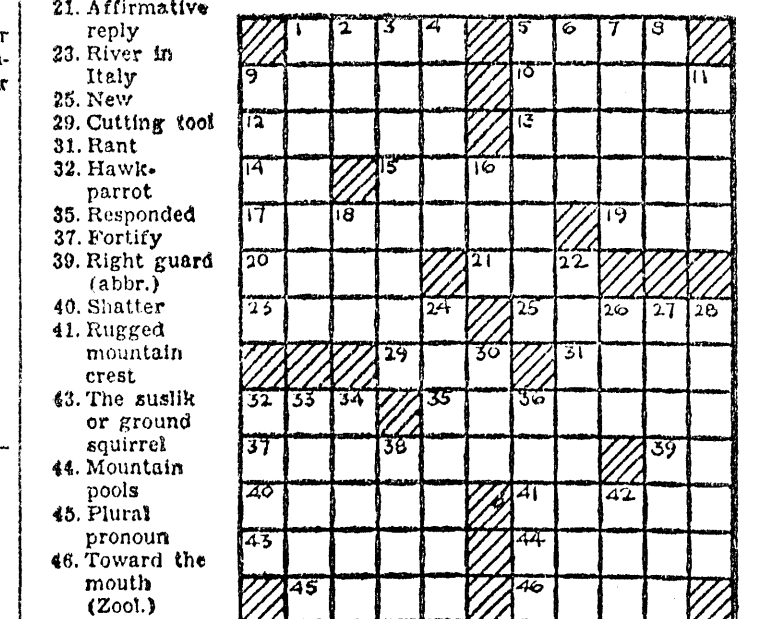

City officials smiled and decided maybe the music wasn't so bad. They promised to allow music boxes for a 30-day trial period. And they invited the youngsters to a party that will include Guy Lombardo's music and all the ice cream they can eat.

The five said they wouldn't sue.

Brazil boasts the largest stadium in the world, Maracana, which seats more than 150,000 spectators.

Lights Over Broadway

The Limelighters: The Duke of Windsor inhaling deeply (near E. Morocco) and telling the Duchess: "Ah, April! Time we were in Paris." ... Gloria Swanson prefiguring the Patio parquet. ... John Wayne, who never won an Oscar (just most of the dough), signifying the back of a lobster in the Chandler kitchen. ... Marilyn Monroe and Anita Ekberg (at different tables) decorating Olin's shenery. ... Lisa Kirk daintily devouring a mansikkaleivonnainen (that's a strawberry tart) in a midtown smorgasbord spot. ... Rita Gam's lookalike at the Art Students Ball. Her mother ... Elsa Lanchester (Mrs. Chas. Laughton) enjoying a charlotte-russe in a 5th Avenue bus. ... Rhonda Fleming's harmony blending with the Major's Cabin dinner-music. ... Hollywood's Terry Moore giving columnists (at the Stork) some of her Moorelark. ... Sonja Henie jitterbugging at the Art Ball. ... Lena Horne, who may be honored with a monument as Brooklyn's Favorite Daughter.

Sallies in Our Alley: The Blue Angel gave Pearl "House of Floozies" Bailey a 20th Anniversary Party, but the Actors' Union attempted to keep her talented guests from doing a song or jig in her honor. Unless they were paid pro rata. Pearl made the announcement, adding: "We've got a Union that protects us from enjoying ourselves!" ... In Cookie's someone said Grace Kelly and Marilyn Monroe had something in common—both skyrocketing to the Top. ... "Except," one logic'd, "Grace seems to be enjoying her success."

Joe DiMaggio's Latest Thrill: His young son phoned from California before taking a plane to join Pop for Easter. ... Junior is a student at the Black Fox Military Academy in L. A. ... "What a game we had today!" Junior reported breathlessly. "The score tied 6 to 6. Two out, the bases full—last lick—the count was 3-2 and he singled—winning the game! Me!"

Hottest Scandal in Town: The real story behind a front-page split-up would make even bigger headlines. ... One of our favorite femme ebony stars is Doing-The-Bighead-Bit cutting old pals daid, etc. ... Janis Paige's new uhhuhney is a girde-tycoon. ... The wags refer to Pat Ward's crowd of motor-bike-riders as "Motor-psychos." ... Anita Ekberg (back in Girlville) was item'd here and there with this and that chap. All cover-ups for Ty Power. ... A prima ballerina was dropped from an upcoming ballet series. ... Too much laughing-ketchup. ... Mrs. John Volk, wife of the society-architect, won't accept invites unless her (shoulder) parakeet can come along and it will go anywhere! ... Lillian Roth's groom allegedly broke a chair on a patron's head at Palm Beach's Monte Cristo. Because he was gabbing while Lil was on. The victim, Ben Miller, responded with a lawsuit.

Midtown Vignette: "Anniversary Waltz," the Jerome Chodorov-Joseph Fields hit comedy (at the Broadhurst), celebrates its 1st Anniversary tomorrow night. ... They are having a Shubert Alley block party after the show. ... Casts of other shows have been invited to rejoice and dance in the street. ... Critics also, we suppose. ... One of them hated the hit. He scribbled: "The decline in literary skill is notable. They are mechanics. They do not bother to write lines. They have practically ceased to be writers!" ... However, he reported that the audience roared. ... Our 2-word rave-view was: "Happy Anniversaries!" ... It still plays to capacity plus Standing Room.

Memos of a Midnighter: "7th Heaven" chiefs and Paul Hartman are fussing. ... F. P. A., a favorite columnist for over 40 years (and a click on the air with "information Please"), is in a nursing home. ... Her Grace signs her checks: "Wallie Windsor." ... Wanna feel aged? Child song star Toni Harper now makes sexy ditties for Key, a new firm. ... Memo to about 3,000 songwriters-members of ASCAP. As of this morning you won't get a dime for collaborating with BMI writers. ... Down Beat (the jazz mag) is trying to pick a fight with Variety over the latter's editorial slandering "Lee-ies" (suggestive songs). ... If the new, "Play Me Hearts and Flowers," sounds familiar, that's because you've heard parts of it under the title: "In a Persian Market Place." ... Robert Ruark's book, "Something of Value," certainly is. Book-of-the-Month for May. ... Bandleader Sammy Kaye wears gold - initial'd T-shirts. (Onlook!)

Manhattan Eyeland: Spring on Broadway: Chorines gadding about town with tiny bokays of violets attached to their high-heeled pumps. ... The Chinese laundry on 10th Avenue with its window sign: "We Speak Spanish." ... "Mr. First Night," who usually makes premises in white - tie and tails, waits for the intermissions to mingle with the playgoers, gives them his views, etc. ... After his brief moment of triumph - he returns to an off - Broadway hotel where he's a bellhop. ... The articulate lady newsboy (all night) near Lindy's (and the ham-and-eggers across the way), who has a nice face and manner. ... A former high school teacher.

a special preparation for the events of Good Friday. Good Friday Services included the preaching of the Cross, which is a non-liturgical service providing an adequate opportunity to preach the faith of Christ Crucified.

The Liturgy of Easter Even will be observed beginning at 11 p.m. Holy Saturday and this will be followed at Midnight by the first Holy Communion of Easter Sunday.

Easter Day Services will be as follows: 7:30 a.m. and 8:45 a.m., Holy Eucharist; 9:45 a.m., Morning Prayer and Sermon (Special provision for children); and 5:30 p.m., Evening Prayer.

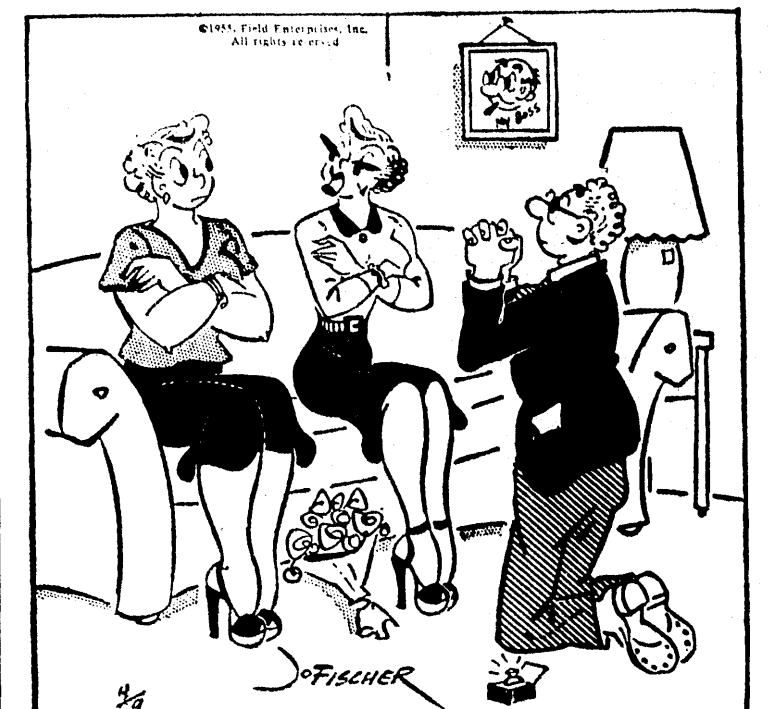

At the 9:45 service Easter Sunday all of the children of Grace Church will bring their offerings of flowers and their Lenten boxes, to be presented. The traditional flower Cross will be prepared.

University Prof Discloses Secret Of Being Popular

NEW ORLEANS, April 8 (U)—Wise up and be popular!

Junius A. Davis of Emory University handed out that advice today. He told the Southern Society for Philosophy and Psychology:

1. Popular boys at school tend to be the smarter ones.

2. Smart boys know their abilities, tend to be at ease and become the popular fellows.

3. The popular guy who says he doesn't like school doesn't mean it. He's just saying that to be popular.

What about the bookworm with his bifocals and no friends? Well, maybe he's fooling you, says Davis. The bookworm could be a 100 per cent dope.

Agadir, Morocco, has a golf course frequented by goats that sometimes mistake golf balls for food, says the National Geographic Society. Any ball swallowed by a goat can be replaced without loss of stroke or distance.

Oil Truck Fire Cuts Phone Lines

FRANKLIN, Tenn., April 8 (U)—Several Southern Bell Telephone Co. cables were broken near here today when an oil transport truck caught fire and burned. Police Chief Harris Irvin said Joe Settle, 32, of Nashville was driver of the truck. Settle said his truck, loaded with 4,000 gallons of gasoline, blazed up while he was climbing a hill. Settle jumped from the truck, which ran off the highway and overturned. The blaze burned the cables from the pole overhead. The Nashville-Montgomery, Ala., toll line was severed, along with lines serving 175 local customers.

Four Hospitalized After Car Leaves Road Near Here

RAYVILLE, April 8 (Special). — Five residents of Florida were injured, two critically, at about 1:45 a.m. Friday when the automobile in which they were riding struck the left railing of the canal bridge 9 2-10 miles west of here and plunged 15 feet into the canal bed. State police said no other vehicle was involved.

Sam Lockmiller and Nathan Lockmiller, of Clearmont, Fla., both suffered a crushed chest in the accident and less seriously injured were Mrs. Sam Lockmiller, Clearmont, and Mrs. J. W. Lockmiller, Zolfo Springs, Fla. All four were admitted to St. Francis hospital in Monroe, J. W. Lockmiller, Zolfo Springs, escaped with only minor injuries and was not admitted to the hospital.

State police said the car, a 1953 Packard, left skid marks for a distance of 252 feet on the approach to the bridge and that it travelled on a shoulder of the road for some distance before striking the east end of the wood railing.

The group was enroute to Tyler, Tex. to attend the funeral of the Lockmiller men's brother, Charlie Lockmiller, when the accident occurred.

Requirement For Bond Vote Given

The Ouachita parish school board bond issue election calling for $1,200,000 in bonds, has necessitated the closing of registration books for precincts 1 through 10 in Wards 3 and 10 until after the voting scheduled for next month.

All other precinct books will remain open, Mrs. Mae Lucky, Ouachita Parish registrar of voters, stated Friday.

The election, in which only property owners will be eligible to vote, calls for acceptance of re-employment of the $1,200,000 bond issue which the school board is asking for in order to expand the present city school facilities.

All property owners in Wards 3 and 10 and located within the city limits must be on the books in order to vote, Mrs. Lucky pointed out.

Case Of Sleeping Sickness Found

EDINBURG, Tex., April 8 (U.P.) — The Hidalgo county health unit Friday reported the first case this year of sleeping sickness, a disease which reached epidemic proportions in the Lower Rio Grande Valley last summer and fall.

Health authorities have warned that another Valley outbreak of the disease was a distinct possibility this year unless virus-carrying mosquitoes are wiped out. A mosquito-eradication program began in the area last month.

Up to Friday, the last reported case of sleeping sickness (encephalitis) in the area was reported Dec. 11.

Last year, at least two persons died of the disease, but physicians said most of the cases were mild.

Pipeline Authorized

WASHINGTON, April 8 (U.S.) — The Federal Power Commission authorized Tennessee Gas Transmission Co., Houston, to construct a new 370-mile natural gas pipeline from a point near Agua Dulce, Tex., along the Gulf coast to the vicinity of Kinder, La.

The new line will cost about $35-400,000. The commission said it will be built as a substitute for about 211 miles of pipeline previously authorized but never constructed.

The largest pelican rookery in the west is on an island in Pyramid Lake, 35 miles north of Reno.

PROTEST—More than 150 mothers of Irving, Tex., school children marched on Dallas county school superintendent's office to protest demotion of two Irving teachers who were "loyal" during recent school strike. School board was abolished by vote, putting district under Dallas jurisdiction until special election April 16.

Four Hospitalized After Car Leaves Road Near Here

RAYVILLE, April 8 (Special). —Five residents of Florida were injured, two critically, at about 1:45 a.m. Friday when the automobile in which they were riding struck the left railing of the canal bridge 2-10 miles west of here and plunged 15 feet into the canal bed. State police said no other vehicle was involved.

Sam Lockmiller and Nathan Lockmiller, of Clearmont, Fla., both suffered a crushed chest in the accident and less seriously injured were Mrs. Sam Lockmiller, Clearmont, and Mrs. J. W. Lockmiller, Zolfo Springs, Fla. All four were admitted to St. Francis hospital in Monroe, J. W. Lockmiller, Zolfo Springs, escaped with only minor injuries and was not admitted to the hospital.

State police said the car, a 1953 Packard, left skid marks for a distance of 252 feet on the approach to the bridge and that it travelled on a shoulder of the road for some distance before striking the east end of the wood railing.

The group was enroute to Tyler, Tex. to attend the funeral of the Lockmiller men's brother, Charlie Lockmiller, when the accident occurred.

Requirement For Bond Vote Given

The Ouachita parish school board bond issue election calling for $1,200,000 in bonds, has necessitated the closing of registration books for precincts 1 through 10 in Wards 3 and 10 until after the voting scheduled for next month.

All other precinct books will remain open, Mrs. Mae Lucky, Ouachita Parish registrar of voters stated Friday.

The election, in which only property owners will be eligible to vote, calls for acceptance of rejection of the $1,200,000 bond issue which the school board is asking for in order to expand the present city school facilities.

All property owners in Wards 3 and 10 and located within the city limits must be on the books in order to vote, Mrs. Lucky pointed out.

Services Today For 4 Students Killed In Crash

WINNER, April 8 (Special) — Funeral services for four high school students who were killed in a train-car accident Thursday night near here, will be held Saturday morning.

Services for Robert Cruce, 18, Rupert Scott, 17 and Claudette Tarver, 18, will be held in the Wisner First Baptist church at 10 a.m. Services for the three will be as one under the arrangement of the First National Funeral Home of Winnsboro.

Rites for Patsy McMurrian, 18, senior Farmerville high school student, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett McMurrian, will be held at 10:30 a.m. from the First Baptist church in Farmerville. Arrangements are under the direction of Kilpatrick Funeral Home of Farmerville.

Palbearers for the Scott boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rupert R. Scott, Hope Estate Plantation, of Wisner will be his former football teammates. They are Roy Lee Shivers, Sam Haggatt, James Mock, Glen Morgan, Guy Luno, Jr., Bobby Sandlin, Ralph Rayborn, and Will Cole.

Palbearers for the Cruce youth whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Cruce of Wisner, will include Paul Margan, Billy Furr, Jerry Furr, Don Chapman, C. D. Coburn, Jr., Wilburn Graves Graves, Huey P. Graves, Harry Viemner, and Ray Bowen.

Palbearers for the Tarver girl, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Claude Tarver of Sicily Island, will be boys from her senior class who are Walter Knotts, Alton Cooper, Bobby Kubit, Wayne Keenan Charles Meyers, Willard Posey, Charles Powell, Glenn Seymour, Faye Thurman, James Hinton, George LeFebvre and Don Seagers.

Palbearers for the McMurrian girl will also be members of her senior class. They are Jeff Lee, Ronnie Brantley, Paul Farrar, Billy Jack Booth, Gene Andrews, Alfred Johnston, Tommie Milford, and George Allen Taylor.

The accident occurred at a grade crossing two miles south of Wisner on state highway 15 about 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

Case Of Sleeping Sickness Found

EDINBURG, Tex., April 8 (U.S.) — The Hidalgo county health unit Friday reported the first case this year of sleeping sickness, a disease which reached epidemic proportions in the Lower Rio Grande Valley last summer and fall.

Health authorities have warned that another Valley outbreak of the disease was a distinct possibility this year unless virus-carrying mosquitoes are wiped out. A mosquito-eradication program began in the area last month.

Up to Friday, the last reported case of sleeping sickness (encephalitis) in the area was reported Dec. 11.

Last year, at least two persons died of the disease, but physicians said most of the cases were mild.

'Two China' System For Peace In Asia Suggested

WASHINGTON, April 8 —UP—ed by Britain, would give diplomatic recognition to Communist China. At the same time Nationalist China would be acknowledged to have a permanent title to Formosa.

The policy also would consider admission to Red China to the United Nations if this could be done without appeasement and on some "effective basis for lasting peace."

Henry Suydam, State Department press officer, told reporters Dean was "speaking as a private citizen" and not for the State Department. He said Dean had not been working for the department for some time.

Dean's proposal has caused considerable discussion in official circles. Meanwhile the administration was under opposing pressure to let Nationalist China bomb Red Chinese airfields near the invasion threatened coastal islands.

The argument is that unless the airfields are destroyed the Reds will attain air superiority that might spell victory in any Formosa Straits battle.

The view is being pressed both by officials of Nationalist China and certain Republican senators. Some of these senators have discussed the question with administration officials in recent weeks.

Building Permits

The following building permits have been issued by city building inspector S. H. Awt:

Napoleon Green, to move a one-story frame dwelling from 500 Grammont to West Monroe.

E. L. Simpson to erect a one-story frame residence at 1010 South 6th at a cost of $7950.

Net farm income in the United States in 1954 was 10 per cent below that of a year earlier.

LaSalle Sheriff Continues Probe Of $23,000 Robbery

JENNA, April 8 —(Special)—Investigation by the LaSalle parish sheriff's office of the $23,000 high-jacking of a whiskey truck continued here today after authorities in Rodessa found the vehicle Thursday morning about 100 yards off state highway one.

The truck was bound for Vicksburg, Miss., from Baton Rouge Monday when it was pirated by three men who flagged the driver, Frank Wallace, Negro, to a stop about a mile south of Tullos.

Wallace said the three men tied him and put a pillow case over his head. They forced him into their car and drove him to a side road near Alexandria where they let him out of the car.

There were no signs of the approximately 300 cases of whiskey and wine consigned to the van type truck.

Federal agents were called into the case because it involved an interstate shipment.

Siegle Area Will Get Mounted Mail

A mounted mail service will go into effect May 1 in the Siegle addition of West Monroe, with some 460 families scheduled to begin receiving delivered mail in front of their homes, according to Homer B. Roark, acting postmaster of West Monroe.

The area is now being served only by post boxes placed along the route of the carrier, but in May the postman will place in the mail at the individual houses.

The geographic center of the North American continent is a few miles west of Devils Lake in Pierce County, North Dakota.

Ferriday Youth To Be Ordained

FERRIDAY, April 8 —(Special)—Charles Murray Clayton, of Ferriday, son of Mr. and Mrs. Waddell Clayton, and a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Murray of Vidalia, who is studying for the Catholic priesthood, will be ordained a Sub-Deacon at St. Patrick's church here May 7.

Father Simone J. Vitale, STD, pastor of the local church of which Seminarian Clayton and members of his family are regular communicants, states that the Sub-Deacon is the first of the three major orders that a candidate has to get in the Catholic church before becoming a Priest. He said that Canon Law prescribes that all the names of all candidates for each major order shall be publicly announced in the parish church of each candidate.

Yes, Dear, You Can Drive—But Please Be Careful

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (M)—A 10-year-old girl behind the wheel of an auto for the first time.

The other passengers: her mother, a sister, 7, and a brother, 5.

That was the picture yesterday when Virginia Johnson asked permission to drive the family car into the garage.

She did—right through the rear wall, sideswiping a tree and finally coming to rest against another tree in a neighbor's yard.

Virginia was cut on the face and chest. Mrs. Marie Johnson was treated for facial bruises. Her son Harold was hospitalized with a broken leg and another daughter, Jean Marie, was treated for bruises.

The garage caved in after the auto crashed through it.

Commerce Head Addresses Group Of Businessmen

RUSTON, April 8 —(Special)—Elmer Conner, director of the department of commerce and industry, addressed 159 interested Ruston citizens here Thursday on the Louisiana Industrial Inducement Act and its benefits.

On April 19 an election will be held asking for a tax to be voted for $250,000 to erect a building for a manufacturing plant. The bonded indebtedness would be paid off by the concern in rent on the building.

Attending the large meeting were members of the Ruston Rotary Club, Lions Club, Kiwanis Club, Chamber of Commerce, Junior Chamber of Commerce, and other interested citizens.

'Two China' System For Peace In Asia Suggested

WASHINGTON, April 8 —UP—The Eisenhower administration's former representative at Korean peace talks has suggested that the United States consider a "two-China" policy to end the Far East war threat.

The proposal was outlined in the current issue of foreign affairs quarterly, a private magazine, by Arthur H. Dean, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' former law partner.

The plan, similar to one advocated by Britain, would give diplomatic recognition to Communist China. At the same time Nationalist China would be acknowledged to have a permanent title to Formosa.

The policy also would consider admission to Red China to the United Nations if this could be done without appeasement and on some "effective basis for lasting peace."

Henry Suydam, State Department press officer, told reporters Dean was "speaking as a private citizen" and not for the State Department. He said Dean had not been working for the department for some time.

JENA, April 8 —(Special)—Investigation by the LaSalle parish sheriff's office of the $23,000 high-jacking of a whiskey truck continued here today after authorities in Rodessa found the vehicle Thursday morning about 100 yards off state highway one.

The truck was bound for Vicksburg, Miss., from Baton Rouge Monday when it was piloted by three men who flagged the driver, Frank Wallace, Negro, to a stop about a mile south of Tullos.

Wallace said the three men tied him and put a pillow case over his head. They forced him into their car and drove him to a side road near Alexandria where they let him out of the car.

There were no signs of the approximately 500 cases of whiskey and wine consigned to the van type truck. Federal agents were called into the case because it involved an interstate shipment.

Siegle Area Will Get Mounted Mail

A mounted mail service will go into effect May 1 in the Siegle addition of West Monroe, with some 460 families scheduled to begin receiving delivered mail in front of their homes, according to Homer B. Roark, acting postmaster of West Monroe.

The area is now being served only by post boxes placed along the route of the carrier, but in May the postman will place in the mail at the individual houses.

The geographic center of the North American continent is a few miles west of Devils Lake in Pierce County, North Dakota.

Ferriday Youth To Be Ordained

FERRIDAY, April 8 —(Special)—Charles Murray Clayton, of Ferriday, son of Mr. and Mrs. Waddell Clayton, and a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Murray of Vidalia, who is studying for the Catholic priesthood, will be ordained a Sub-Deacon at St. Patrick's church here May 7.

Father Simone J. Vitale, STD, pastor of the local church of which Seminarian Clayton and members of his family are regular communicants, states that the Subdiaconate is the first of the three major orders that a candidate has to get in the Catholic church before becoming a Priest. He said that Canon Law prescribes that all the names of all candidates for each major order shall be publicly announced in the parish church of each candidate.

Yes, Dear, You Can Drive-But Please Be Careful

LOUISVILLE, Ky. —A 10-year-old girl behind the wheel of an auto for the first time.

The other passengers: her mother, a sister, 7, and a brother, 5.

That was the picture yesterday when Virginia Johnson asked permission to drive the family car into the garage.

She did—right through the rear wall, sideswiping a tree and finally coming to rest against another tree in a neighbor's yard.

Virginia was cut on the face and chest. Mrs. Marie Johnson was treated for facial bruises. Her son Harold was hospitalized with a broken leg and another daughter, Jean Marie, was treated for bruises.

The garage caved in after the auto crashed through it.

Commerce Head Addresses Group Of Businessmen

RUSTON, April 8 —(Special)—Elmer Conner, director of the department of commerce and industry, addressed 159 interested Ruston citizens here Thursday on the Louisiana Industrial Inducement Act and its benefits.

On April 19 an election will be held asking for a tax to be voted for $350,000 to erect a building for a manufacturing plant. The bonded indebtedness would be paid off by the concern in rent on the building.

Attending the large meeting were members of the Ruston Rotary Club, Lions Club, Kiwanis Club, Chamber of Commerce, Junior Chamber of Commerce, and other interested citizens.
